Cripple pays with life going to aid of wounded cop

NEW YORK (UPI) — The simple gesture of visiting a sick cousin in the hospital cost Frank Walker his life.

Walker, 28, was walking through a hospital corridor Wednesday after seeing his cousin. Suddenly he heard a gunshot.

He glanced down the hall and saw a policeman crumple to the floor, a bullet wound in his chest. Standing over the wounded officer, holding a smoking gun, was a slight, scar-faced youth in a hospital robe.

Walker, a cripple, struggled with the policeman's assailant, but the youth broke loose.

He shot Walker twice, once in the chest and once in the abdomen.

Walker, whose wife was killed in the traffic accident that crippled him a year ago, died on a St. Vincent's Hospital operating table three hours later. He left six children, aged 6 to 12.

The wounded officer, John DiCembre, 33, was in stable condition early today after major surgery. He had been guarding 19-year-old patient Raymond Tubar, and police arrested Tubar in another part of the hospital and charged him with murder.

Mayor Abraham Beame said he was deeply shocked by Walker's death and called him "a heroic civilian who came to the defense of a policeman under attack."

"His unselfish deed, which cost him his life, places us all in his debt," Beame said.

Tubar had been in the hospital since Jan. 21, recovering from a gunshot wound above the eye. He had been wounded by police, who arrested him because he clubbed two passersby on a busy Greenwich Village street for no apparent reason and then chased officers with the club.

Authorities ordered a psychiatric examination of Tubar.

Police say the youth grabbed DiCembre's gun during a trip to the men's room.

A short time before the shooting, Walker, who had gone to the hospital with his father, his uncle and two cousins to visit a sick cousin on the fifth floor, excused himself to go to the nearest men's room, located on the fourth floor.

Skid Row slasher strikes again—his eighth victim

Man's slaying fits pattern, say police

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Police Wednesday night found the body of a 40-year-old man with his throat cut and said he was suspected to be the eighth victim of the "Skid Row slasher."

The killing "appears to have the same method of operation" as the seven earlier slayings, said Police Commander Peter Hagan.

It fit the slasher's pattern of killing only on weekends and Wednesday nights.

"There are many points of similarity between this murder and the previous slasher murders," Hagan said. "There are several factors in common."

However, it broke with the pattern by taking place in East Hollywood, about five miles from the downtown skid row neighborhood where the previous killings took place, beginning Dec. 1.

Police said the victim was found in his room by an apartment house manager.

Three previous "slasher" victims were killed in apartments or rooms at cheap hotels for transients. Four were slain as they lay helpless in drunken stupors in alleys and doorways on skid row.

All had their throats cut from ear to ear.

Three previous slayings took place on Wednesday nights, three on Sundays and one on a Saturday.

The mysterious attacks have terrorized the derelicts, winos and drunks on Skid Row, who call the killer "the headchopper." Some of the men have said they try not to pass out in public places any more, for fear the killer will get them.

A special police squad was formed to hunt down the slasher, but detectives have admitted bafflement.

Little is known of the killer except that he appears to be stronger than the average city dweller, because "it takes strength to cut a throat" the way he does it. Investigators have said they do not rule out the possibility that a woman did the killings, but a male suspect is more likely.

Unions aroused

Jobless converging on Washington, demanding action; rallies scheduled

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Jobless Americans are beginning to turn up in Washington to let off steam.

About 1,000 New York City residents who are out of work have shown up on Capitol Hill to corner congressmen. More will come next month.

"There is the beginning of mass starvation in America. People don't have money to put food on their table," said David Livingston, president of a warehouse workers union from New York City.

Leonard Woodcock, president of the United Auto Workers, told about 700 members of the International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers, who convened from across the country, that his union plans to bus hundreds to Washington Feb. 5 for a job rally.

The machinists jumped to their feet and applauded when Woodcock said that if there is no adequate government action by spring he will help rally 200,000 or more unemployed for another job march on Washington.

He said 239,000 employes of the four American auto companies are out of work, an unemployment rate of 36 per cent.

"We're going to pass 8 per cent unemployment (nationally) and I'm afraid we're going to hit 9," Woodcock said. The December national rate was 7.1 per cent —which meant 6.5 million people were without jobs.

The government reported Wednesday 851,700 American workers appeared at unemployment benefits offices during the week ending Jan. 18 to file initial claims for insurance benefits. That figure was down 118,500 from the previous week.

The number of workers actually receiving benefits was 4,561,300 during the week ending Jan. 11, down 49,200 from the previous week. The Labor Department cautioned against reading these week-to-week changes as a trend, since there are many ups and downs.

Sonic booms felt

Cold spell to remain and rain may return

Showers may return to the valley today and again Friday night, but fair weather is expected for most of the weekend, the U.S. Weather Service said today.

The cold spell which has kept residents shivering all week is expected to continue through the weekend with little change in temperatures.

The high is expected to remain in the mid-50s and the mercury will probably dip to the freezing range tonight and Friday night.

Shock waves which startled residents several times Wednesday apparently were not part of Mother Nature, according to a seismology laboratory spokesman at Caltech in Pasadena.

Shocks were reported both in the morning and the afternoon throughout the valley. But they were described as sonic booms, rather than earthquakes.

The booms were attributed to the flight of supersonic planes from the Pt. Mugu Naval Air Station and March Air Force Base over the Southland.

Joe Frey, a resident in the Highlander Mobile Home Park at 3667 W. Valley Blvd., Pomona, reported that the 4 p.m. shocks were strong enough to move the chair in which he was sitting.

Mayors cite financial crisis in big cities; ask $5 billion

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A group of mayors told Congress today that problems facing the nation's big cities have risen to "crisis proportions" and $5 billion in emergency aid is needed to help bail them out.

A 14-member panel of mayors from the nation's major cities told the Senate Intergovernmental Relations subcommittee that inflation was "plundering city department budgets" and driving up the cost of everything from trash collecting to police protection.

The mayors said the money was specifically needed to help pay for the inflated cost of local government and to hold down property taxes.

Mayor Joseph L. Alioto of San Francisco, president of the Conference of Mayors, said the cities' fiscal problems "have now risen to crisis proportions."

"Inflation and recession are cutting deeply into city budgets," Alioto said. "As a result, cities are faced with a variety of 'belt-tightening' strategies: lay-offs, hiring freezes, cutbacks in services, raising of local taxes and more."

Army successful with laser artillery shell

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Army is experimenting with a laser-guided artillery shell that may be able to hit moving tanks at several miles.

They explained the laser beam is "line of sight" while the artillery shell is a ballistic weapon that flies in a high arc. At the height of its trajectory, the shell picks up the laser beam below to home in on its target.

Winds, snow, sleet lash East, Midwest

By United Press International

Fierce winds lashed the northeast and snow and sleet whipped the Midwest early today.

Winds up to 62 miles an hour roared through Albany, N. Y., and strong northwest winds blasted Maine. The winds swept light snow across northern New England and New York.

Crashing air masses triggered snow, sleet and rain in New Mexico to Alabama. Travelers from Texas to Colorado were warned against poor traveling conditions. A heavy snow warning went up for the Colorado mountains.

An airport spokesman said the girl apparently drove onto the field from a north end entrance.

Governor spars with college trustees, but KO'd on 'campus beer' proposal

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. occupied center stage throughout a meeting of the state university and colleges trustees Wednesday but suffered a setback over the sale of beer on campuses.

Attending his first trustees meeting as governor, Brown questioned every item on the agenda and was in the middle of every discussion at the freeswinging session.

The 36-year-old governor proposed that beer be sold on state university and college campuses on a "local option" basis, but his idea was promptly rejected by the board, dominated by appointees of former Gov Ronald Reagan

Brown also defended his university and college system budget cuts and lectured the trustees over creation of more "task forces"

His setback occured as the trustees took up for action a resolution that would have reaffirmed their support of the current ban against beer sales on campus.

He said the question should be decided by individual college presidents and the state Alcoholic Beverage Control Department.

But the governor's motion failed on a lopsided 4-7 vote with two abstentions. Lt. Gov. Mervyn Dymally joined Brown in voting for approval.

Brown asserted that the trustees should not even be involved in the beer drinking question and should focus tighter attention on educational issues. He said the college presidents should make such decisions.

"If they can't handle it, we should fire them," the governor declared. "If they can't decide that at a local level, I can't imagine what they can decide. I think we should get out of the beer business and into the education business.

Trustees opposing Brown's proposal contended it would be impossible to enforce the legal 21-year-old age limit on drinking if beer was sold on campuses, because so many students are under 21.

The board rejected an original motion to reaffirm the current prohibition against campus beer sales and instead delayed action until March when a trustee task force will report its findings.

Defending his reduction of budget requests approved by the trustees, Brown challenged the board to criticize his action on the spot.

Chancellor Glenn S. Dumke said he wanted to talk specifically about the budget later in a personal meeting with the governor, but Brown declared, "I'm prepared now to discuss the budget. I'll stay until 8:30 p.m., if you like more time. I'll give it to you."

The matter was subsequently referred to the trustees budget committee.

Brown pointed to the $50,000-plus salaries of Dumke and his vice chancellor and said "belt tightening" should begin with "those with the biggest belts."

28 of 29 survive in charter plane crash

SANTO DOMINGO, D.R. (UPI) — A twin-engine charter plane with 29 persons aboard crashed today on takeoff from the Las Americas International Airport here and caught fire.

The pilot was killed but authorities said the 27 American and Canadian passengers and a stewardess survived.

Airport authorities said the body of pilot Manuel LaMarche Rey was found when rescuers pulled the passengers from the shattered DC3. LaMarche was the owner of the one-plane airline and his wife Lourde, who survived, was serving aboard as stewardess. Both were Dominicans.

7% by summer?

Chase Manhattan drops prime loan rate to 9%

NEW YORK (UPI) — Chase Manhattan Bank today dropped its interest rate for prime business loans to 9 per cent from 9½ per cent, making it the lowest prime rate in the country

The new Chase rate is the lowest since last spring when the interest charged by banks to their most credit worthy customers started a slow but steady decline after they peaked out at 12 per cent in July.

Last week, Vice Chairman James J. Leary of Irving Trust in New York predicted the prime rate would fall generally to around 7 per cent by summer because of the recession and the slowdown in inflation.

U S Trust Co. of New York dropped its prime rate to 9¼ per cent Wednesday but most big commercial banks were still at 9½ and some at 9¾ per cent

First National City Bank of New York, whose floating prime rate often is a bellwether for the banking industry, normally announces changes in its rate at 10 a.m. Friday. Citibank's current prime rate is 9½ per cent.

Firms denying policies or doubling fees

Doctors' insurance crisis looms

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Staggering malpractice insurance losses have created a "90-day crisis" that threatens to deprive about 6,000 California physicians of lawsuit protection, the state insurance commissioner declared today.

Gleason Payne also warned the "future is uncertain" about the continued willingness of companies to write policies for the remainder of the state's 25,000 physicians because of an estimated $40 million to $60 million loss suffered by the industry in 1974.

At the very least, Payne predicted physicians will face 100 to 300 per cent increases in premium rates that already average $3,500 a year and for some specialists soar to $15,000 annually.

"We are in a 90-day crisis," Payne said in an interview. "This state cannot wait until May 1 to guarantee some kind of coverage for doctors."

Payne said he "definitely" expects Argonaut Insurance Co. of Menlo Park to withdraw coverage for 4,000 physicians in Northern California and Nevada through prohibitive rate increases in May.

In addition, he said Pacific Indemnity Insurance Co. has refused to renew policies — expiring at the rate of 300 a month — for 2,000 Los Angeles area physicians at a time when only one of three companies underwriting malpractice insurance will pick up new policies.

The commissioner, predicting that only 1,000 physicians will be able to find coverage, called on the legislature and Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. to support an urgency bill mandating a malpractice policy "pool" from the 1,000 companies writing all forms of casualty insurance in California.

He said malpractice premiums, currently at $75 million a year statewide, also should be doubled "because the market is losing its shirt."

Payne, an appointee of former Gov. Ronald Reagan, is expected to retire next week.

The increase would be passed on to the patient, who in effect, already pays anywhere from $2 to $5 a visit to support a physician's malpractic coverage.

The crisis is part of a national emergency gripping most other states where inflation and high court awards have eaten up insurance company reserves set aside to cover losses.

In 1972, Argonaut picked up the policies of almost 4,000 physicians in Alameda-Contra Costa, Marin, Siskiyou, Shasta-Trinity and Colano Medical Associations, as well as 175 members of the Nevada State Medical Association.

The firm only would confirm that a policy "review" was being conducted. But it told the policy holders it would first "cope with our problems" in Massachusetts and Pennsylvania before turning to Northern California. Argonaut, a subsidiary of Teledyne Inc., has indicated it wants to withdraw coverage in the two states and previously announced policy terminations in June in New York.

"I definitely expect them to pull out," Payne said. "I don't see why they would treat California differently."

The commissioner said state estimates put the firm's premiums at $12 million last year and that it suffered losses totaling $24 million.

Argonaut's withdrawal would be the latest in a series that began in 1972 when the firm took over the policies from American Mutual Liability Insurance Co., which lost an estimated $15 million before it finally pulled out.

Since then, another five companies have stopped underwriting malpractice insurance, two have refused to take on new risks and the only one writing policies has tripled the rates of a year ago.

Earlier this month Travelers Insurance Co. asked 7,200 Southern California physicians it covers for a "voluntary" 100 per cent rate increase to cover soaring claims settlements.

"If Travelers does not get the increase we have to prepare for the possibility that it might withdraw when the contract expires in January 1976," Payne said.

In the long run, the commissioner called for establishment of a no-fault malpractice insurance plan as the only way to halt the spiraling increases in physician and patient costs.

. . . Physician blames high lawyer fees, court costs

ORANGE (UPI) — If more money went to the patients in medical malpractice suits, instead of lawyers, it would reduce doctors' insurance premiums and make health care less expensive, a physician said Wednesday

Dr Philip McFarland, president of the Orange County Medical Association, said out of every dollar awarded in mal-pratice suits, only 29 cents goes to the patient while 71 cents goes for lawyers and court fees

However, in workmen's compensation cases, McFarland said, 73 cents of every dollar goes to the workmen These cases are administered by a commission, he noted

McFarland, speaking at a news conference before a meeting of the California Medical Association Committee on Malpractice, said the committee hopes to get legislation passed that would see to it that more money goes to the plaintiffs in such suits.

He said the rapidly increasing incidence of malpractice suits has forced insurance costs up, and this is raising the cost of healthcare to patients, driving doctors out of business and causing other physicians to curtail their practices drastically and to retire early.

Dr. D.T. Ball, chairman of the malpractice committee, said one out of four California doctors is sued for malpractice each year, compared with about one in eight seven years ago.

In 1972, he said, the average settlement amounted to $20,000 in Southern California, but rose to $25,000 last year Before 1971, there were only three judgments of $1 million or more in the state, but since 1971 there have been 13 judgments of this amount or higher.

Some missing L.A. checks may be due to printing error

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Twenty missing blank county payroll checks were probably not stolen, but are the result of a printing error, county officials said Wednesday.

Auditor-Controller Mark H. Bloodgood said the Sheriff's Department investigated the controls and procedures for printing the checks at the Standard Register Co. in Porterville, after the missing numbers were discoverd Jan. 9.

"As no actual missing warrants could be located, no positive conclusion will probably ever be made," Bloodgood said. "However, the sheriff does believe that whatever happened did occur prior to the delivery of the warrants to the county."

County officials said all banks have been alerted to reject the checks, if they ever do appear.

Meanwhile, in the case of the missing city treasury checks, a written motion was made by a defense attorney to disqualify two fellow attorneys representing most of the suspects in that scheme.

Deputy Public Defender G. Keith Wisot said that attorneys Matthew J. Segall and Marshall Bitkower had a conflict of interest, and asked that they be taken off the case.

Wisot said that a preliminary hearing held for one of the defendants, Bernard Howard, was "reduced to a farce and a sham due to the ineffective representation of Howard" by Segall and Bitkower.

Howard, 52, Yonkers, N.Y., is charged with 10 felony counts in connection with the scheme to bilk the city of millions of dollars by cashing stolen treasury checks.

State briefs

10 to 50% of inmates beyond help--A. G.

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — At least 10 per cent, and perhaps 50 per cent, of the state's 22,000 prison inmates are "unrehabilitable," under present penal conditions, California's Attorney General said Wednesday.

Evelle J. Younger told a news conference that a sizeable proportion of inmates won't have anything to do with group therapy, job training or other efforts at rehabilitation.

The state's top law enforcement officer said there is a rising incidence of violence in prisons which makes working with inmates difficult.

Younger said it was time to take a "realistic" approach to helping convicts prepare for the outside by spending money on those who really want to be helped.

Orange County mulls its own railroad plan

SANTA ANA, Calif. (UPI) — There may be another commuter train between San Diego and Los Angeles in addition to the newly created "Los Angeles County Railroad."

Orange County is considering sharing with Los Angeles and San Diego cording to Mary Evelyn Bryden of the counties the cost of another train, ac- Orange County Transit District.

The Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors agreed only Tuesday to buy eight used railroad cars from an Oregon collection to operate commuter service between Los Angeles and San Diego, with stops in Orange County on Santa Fe railroad tracks.

Insurance tax break suffers Senate blow

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — With the support of Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr., legislation paving the way for abolishment of a $23 million insurance company tax break won a crucial Senate victory Wednesday and advanced to the floor.

The constitutional amendment (SCA12), which would make it easy for majority Democrats to close the "loophole," was approved at its first and only Senate hearing. The vote of the Revenue and Taxation Committee was 6-1, one more than needed.

If adopted by the legislature, the proposal would be placed on the June 1976 election ballot for a decision by voters.

The measure, sponsored by Sen. David A. Roberti, D-Los Angeles, would lower from two-thirds to a simple majority the legislative vote required to end the "home office" tax deduction given insurance companies headquartered in California.

No easing of credit --Burns

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Federal Reserve Chairman Arthur Burns indicated today there will be no immediate, massive easing of federal credit to aid the staggering American economy.

"As long as I am chairman, we will not release a new wave of inflation on this country," he told the House Ways and Means Committee in its hearings on proposed income tax cuts.

Burns promised to continue moderate expansion of the money supply and bank credit despite expected huge federal deficits over the next two years. And he said he supported income and corporate tax cuts over the short run.

The board controls the nation's money supply. It has come under heavy criticism in recent years for maintaining a tight money supply —leading to high interest rates —in an effort to control inflation.

"You can expect an effort to expand at a moderate rate the supply of money and bank credit," Burns said in answer to a question from Committee Chairman Al Ullman, D-Ore., on the board's plans in light of a possible $100 million federal deficit over the next two years.

Burns also promised that the Fed would not allow a credit crunch to hit the country in which loans would be impossible to get.

Ford, Wilson call for an economic alliance

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford and British Prime Minister Harold Wilson said in their first meeting today the two countries must ally against world economic crisis as they did in two world wars against military foes.

Ford, who greeted Wilson in a sunny, windswept ceremony on the White House lawn, said The United States "and our oldest ally" now face a "new challenge."

The United States alone, he said, cannot defeat the global problems of inflation, recession and energy shortage.

"What is at stake is the future of industrialized democracy," the President added.

Wilson said his talks with Ford today and Friday would be aimed at helping safeguard "the jobs and living standards of the millions of families we are here to serve."

He added that Britain and the United States must continue to work for economic victory as they did military victory "as friends, as partners, as allies."

Wilson, the wind blowing his silver hair, raised a hand and spoke of "this new and menacing world economic crisis." He said it is not just a matter of harmony in financial and other economic institutions.

In Ottawa, where he met Wednesday with Canadian Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau, Wilson said: "We do not in any way look upon ourselves as mediators between the United States or any other western nations and the Soviet Union

"But we shall use our contacts with the Soviet Union . . . We'll use our contacts to try and explore what openings there are for further agreement. But we're not trying to get into a phony middle position."

U.S.-Soviet relations have been troubled over trade. After the U.S. Congress demanded liberalized emigration of Soviet Jews as a condition for trade concessions, the Russians renounced a trade improvement treaty they had signed with the United States in 1972.

Wilson arrived here Wednesday night for two days of talks.

He and Ford are expected to hold a wide ranging review of pressing world problems covering the Middle East, the newly developing strategic situation in the Persian Gulf, the financial stresses of the energy squeeze and relations between the Soviet Union and the western world.

Wilson and Ford are also expected to discuss the current state of U.S.-Soviet talks on limiting nuclear arms.

Wilson is to meet twice with Ford in the Oval Office and dine with him at the White House.

On Friday, Wilson will appear at the National Press Club to speak and answer questions.

He is to fly back to London on Saturday by way of New York where he will meet with U.N. Secretary General Kurt Waldheim

Shotgun-wielding pair rob market, slug woman

Two robbers armed with shotguns hit a woman market employe with one of the weapons when she was slow to follow their orders Wednesday evening, police reported.

The holdup was at the Columbia Market, 1432 W. Ninth St. The owner, Lee Won Chai, 34, told police the men entered, threatened him and his wife with shotguns and ordered his wife to place the money in a sack. She didn't understand immediately and was slugged, Chai said. After obtaining the cash the men fled east on Ninth Street.

The robbers were white and in their early 20s. The leader weighed 150 pounds, was 5 feet 5 and was described as chubby. He wore a green fatigue jacket and dark trousers.

Chai said the pair may have been the same men who were in the store before and who had argued with his wife over their claim that they had paid for an item with a $20 bill.

In Chino two carloads of youths drove through downtown streets Wednesday night, heaving bricks through the plate glass windows of seven businesses on D Street.

Over $1,000 damage resulted.

Police reported that about 10:05 p.m. cars drove slowly down the 5100 and 5200 block of D Street and the occupants began heaving bricks through the plate glass windows. The cars drove off at a high rate of speed.

Both the vehicles were older model sedans, one a 1964 Chevrolet. Merchants this morning were busy sweeping up the glass and debris left on the sidewalkds and street and temporarily boarding up their display windows.

Chino police also reported the arrest of a 28-year-old Chino man after he allegedly attempted to burglarize a car parked near the B and R Bar at 12921 Central Ave., at 7:15 p.m.

The suspect, identified as Scott Alley Frey, 28, of 12704 East End Ave., Chino, was surprised by a bar employe as he was trying to break into the parked car. Frey was arrested later by police because his description matched that of the burglar. Frey is being held in Chino Jail pending further investigation.

Montclair police arrested a 17-year-old Alta Loma youth about one hour after he allegedly grabbed the purse of a Claremont woman in the parking lot on the south side of the Broadway store in the Montclair Plaza Wednesday afternoon.

The youth this morning was in the hands of juvenile authorities pending disposition of a charge of strong armed robbery.

Police said the youth walked up behind Mrs. Mildred Pheis, 79, while she was walking in the parking lot. The youth grabbed the woman's purse, nearly knocking her off her feet, and fled.

Police a short time later arrested the youth near the freeway south of the Plaza and recovered the purse and most of its contents.

In Alta Loma Wednesday a burglary at the home of Mrs. Paul Edwards, of 7407 Helman St. ended with the arrest of an 18-year-old Ontario man.

Mrs. Edwards called sheriff's deputies about 9:30 a.m. to report a strange car in her driveway. When deputies arrived to investigate, the car had left with two men in it. Further investigation revealed that Mrs. Edward's home had been burglarized with the burglars taking a stereo, television set, vacuum cleaner and other items.

Deputies said that Mrs. Edwards took down the license number of the car which was traced to David Lujan Torrez, 18, of 720 N. Allyn St., Ontario.

Torrez was arrested and charged with burglary after most of the items stolen from Mrs. Edward's home were recovered.

Major oil spill expected after ship collision

CHALMETTE, La. (UPI) — The Coast Guard today said it was expecting a major oil spill from the fiery collision of an empty freighter and three oil barges in the Mississippi River.

Heavy fog was preventing any observation of the spreading pollution.

"We know there's a major oil spill out there," Stanley Christman, a Coast Guard spokesman said. "And we're waiting for the fog to lift. We believe the oil to be coming from one or more of the barges, which now are all rounded up."

The three oil barges and the empty freighter Wednesday collided on the Mississippi River creating a wall of fire that paralyzed 15 miles of the nation's longest inland waterway.

Cars collide on freeway; woman hurt

An Upland woman was injured Wednesday on the San Bernardino Freeway when a motorists swerved his car to avoid colliding with another vehicle and the serving car struck hers.

Barbara Dickmeyer, 25, of 1481 W. Seventh St., was admitted to San Antonio Community Hospital with bruises and a swollen knee. Her condition is termed fair.

The accident occurred as John Hamsath, of 2460 Burt St., Upland, entered the freeway at the Indian Hill Boulevard on-ramp and began making a lane change, said highway patrolmen.

Seeing the car making the lane change, Robert Peck of Redlands swerved his car into the middle lane and collided with Mrs. Dickmeyer's vehicle, forcing it into a center divider fence, officers added.

Nuclear plants told to close

WASHINGTON (UPI) — As a result of small cracks found in the pipes of a nuclear power reactor in Illinois, the government has ordered 23 such plants across the country to close down within 20 days so checks can be made on the safety of their operations.

A spokesman said Wednesday the Nuclear Regulatory Commission ordered the shutdown of the reactors, which are used to run electrical power generators, after Commonwealth Edison Co. of Chicago reported it had found five small cracks in the pipes of one of its reactors.

"We've ordered the operators of 23 boiling water reactors to shut down within 20 days to determine if there are cracks in any other piping," the spokesman said.

Unruh seeking to end credit discrimination

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — State Treasurer Jesse Unruh is calling on officials of all California banks in which the state has time deposits to sign statements of non-discrimination against women.

Unruh Wednesday said the statements would be a condition of continuing to maintain the time deposits.

"The practice of discriminating against women who apply for bank credit has long been unfair and now it is outright illegal," Unruh said in a news release.

The former speaker of the Assembly said a 1973 law makes it illegal to practice discrimination in the issuance of credit on the basis of sex.

More than 100 California banks now hold time deposits totaling nearly $246 million in state funds.

Bicycle deaths show decline

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Ten fewer persons died in bicycle accidents in California last year than in 1973 despite an increase in the number of bikes, the Highway Patrol reported Wednesday.

A CHP spokesman said 108 persons were killed in California bike accidents last year.

Marijuana has medical potential

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A drug expert testified Wednesday that marijuana has such a widespread medical potential it should be available for doctors to prescribe for their patients.

Untold pain and suffering could be relieved if marijuana were available for medical uses, said Dr. Joel Fort, a frequent witness at congressional drug abuse hearings who also has written books on drugs, operated drug clinics and conducted worldwide research for the United Nations.

His suggestion was made at a Drug Enforcement Administration hearing on federal legal controls of marijuana.

Fort said the drug's medical value and potential in treating glaucoma, asthma, cancer, even alcoholism and drug addiction "would certainly justify its legal availability for research and prescribing."

Asked if marijuana should be made available for medical uses, he replied, "I think it is vital and essential, that a tremdous amount of unnecessary suffering has the potential for being relieved by the availability of this substance and we should do everything possible to make it legally available."

Fort testified that social stigma has deterred research on the medical uses of marijuana in this country. But he said the drug has been used medically since 5000 B.C.

Government attorney Robert Rosthal acknowledged Fort's expertise, but contended his testimony was irrelevant and was not an issue at the hearing.

The DEA, the government's narcotics agency, has been asked to reclassify marijuana which it now lumps together with such other drugs as heroin and LSD in a category of drugs with high abuse potential and no medical value.

Fort was the second witness called by the National Organization for the Reform of Marijuana Laws, which, along with the American Public Health Association, has challenged the classification.

Fort said the most positive medical value of marijuana appears to be in the treatment of glaucoma, an eye disorder affecting more than 1 million Americans which can lead to blindness. For asthma, he said, it does not have the side effects of some other asthma drugs.

With some cancer patients, he added, it has been useful in reducing vomiting and the need for pain control narcotics. He said it also can be used in the treatment of moderate depression or helping some people gain weight.

32 deaths linked with antibiotics?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Food and Drug Administration said Wednesday 32 patients may have died after being treated with two widely prescribed antibiotics and that the actual death toll is probably higher.

Dr. Alexander M. Schmidt, the FDA commissioner, told Congress there is little doubt the drugs are being misprescribed by doctors.

He said the FDA is prepared to order one of the drugs — lincomycin —off the market if necessary, and will try to stop the second drug —clindamycin —from being misused.

The Upjohn Co., which manufactures the drugs, said there had been 85 reports of patients who died from colitis —fluid loss and shock —after receiving the drugs.

But Upjohn said its analysis of 74 of those cases showed that only 20 were probably linked to the drugs.

Schmidt's figure of 32 is more than double what had previously been officially confirmed by the agency. He said there were six deaths confirmed in medical literature and an additional 26 possible fatalities reported to the FDA.

Schmidt said the 32 deaths are probably "an underestimate of the national problem."

Clindamycin is being sold at the rate of 6 million prescriptions a year while lincomycin has been selling at the rate of 1 million prescriptions a year.

Schmidt was called to testify on the drugs before the Senate Small Business Committee, along with William N. Hubbard, president of Upjohn.

Hubbard defended the drugs and his firm's promotion of them, but admitted about 20 per cent of clindamycin has been used for bronchitis and acne, two conditions for which it is not recommended.

The deaths which have been reported are from a severe form of colitis which results in fluid loss and shock. Hubbard said records show there have been 85 colitis deaths, but he did not specify if any of those were linked to the two antibiotics.

Schmidt, in testimony submitted to the hearing, said medical literature reports six deaths associated with lincomycin and clindamycin.

The FDA's reporting system, he said, shows 26 cases where the drugs played a major or contributing role in the death.

The data is not perfect, he said, but "in spite of these limitations there would seem to be little doubt that many of our 26 cases represent drug induced deaths."

The reporting system has turned up most of the cases only since medical journals began giving the problem publicity, Schmidt said. "Thus the figure of 26 drug associated deaths represents in all likelihood an underestimate of the national problem."

FDA spokesmen previously had set the probable death total at 14 after Ralph Nader researchers wrote Schmidt urging him to curb use of the two drugs.

World Jewish community is split

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Israel's policy of refusing to negotiate with the Palestine Liberation Organization has badly split the world Jewish community.

At the center of the controversy is 79-year old Nahum Goldmann, president of the World Jewish Congress and an outspoken advocate of negotiations. He has called for the introduction of the Soviet Union into peace talks and said Secretary of State Henry Kissinger's "small steps" method was "inefficient and inadequate."

"The situation is explosive," Goldmann said in an interview in the French newspaper Le Monde earlier this year. "It needs a quick and radical settlement. And such an agreement is possible only if the USA and the USSR are cooperating closely together."

That interview, widely circulated, led to calls that Goldman should be relieved as president of the Congress —the organization he headed since 1949.

A major test of Goldmann's support comes next week, the election at the Congress' plenary assembly in Jerusalem.

Nurse shortage reported by hospital chief

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — An administrator at the Martin Luther King Hospital said Wednesday the 64 nursing vacancies at the hospital reflect the critical nursing shortage throughout the Los Angeles area.

The King Hospital has had to reduce the number of intensive care unit beds, said William Delgardo, associate administrator. While licensed to have 12 intensive care unit beds, the hospital currently has only eight, and needs 10 more intensive care nurses.

Delgardo said the entire area is suffering from a shortage of nurses. With all hospitals recruiting from the same local nursing pool, nurses can select hospitals that will give them day shifts or which are located near their homes, he said.

Donations end snake shortage

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI) — The shortage of boa constrictors at the University of California Zoology Department is over.

The department has two new boas that were donated after Arnold, an 8-foot serpent, disappeared last month.

One 4-foot female boa was donated by a person who had kept it as a house pet. The other, a 4-foot snake believed to be male, was captured by a zoology student in Mexico.

Arnold apparently was stolen.

Different names, but same bombs

By United Press International

The "Weather Underground" has had some name changes over the years, but its tactics remain the same—protest by bomb.

The radicals who claim responsibility for Wednesday's bombing of the State Department and for planting dynamite in an Oakland, Calif., induction center, started out as the Weathermen.

Early in 1971 the Weathermen changed their name to Weatherpeople. The new name, according to radical watchers, came from pressure from the women's lib section of the group.

Like many radicals, they wanted a drastic change in the American political and economic system. But unlike most, they believed the time was ripe for bringing the revolution to the streets.

The name Weatherman comes from a Bob Dylan song "Subterranean Homesick Blues," which contains the words: "You don't need a weatherman to know which way the wind blows."

"Bring the war Home." was one of their slogans.

Weathermen leaders went underground in 1969, splitting into isolated cells with no real headquarters. They set off bombs around the country and gained a reputation for aimless violence with their bizarre "Day of Rage," —a wild window-smashing rampage in Chicago.

On March 6, 1970, an elegant townhouse in New York City's Greenwich Village blew up, killing three members of the Weathermen. Police later found it was being used as a "bomb factory."

During the next months the group claimed responsibility for a bombing campaign in major American cities.

Early in 1971 the Weathermen changed their name to Weatherpeople. The new name, according to radical watchers, came from pressure from the women's lib section of the group.

On Jan. 19, 1971, Bernardine Dohrn, a leading Weatherperson who never has been caught, issued a statement from hiding suggesting that the group was considering tactics other than bombings and terrorism.

But in March, 1971, a bomb was set off in the U.S. Capitol. A year later, another blew up in the Pentagon.

During the last four years, the group changed its name to Weather Underground and has taken credit for six other bombings around the country.

The communique explaining Wednesday's terrorism contained the seven-year-old Weatherman theme: Stop U.S. involvement in Vietnam and resolve the economic suffering at home.

Man who hired pair to cut off woman's finger to get exam

VENTURA (UPI) — Financier Reese L. Milner was ordered today to undergo diagnostic care before he is sentenced on charges he hired two men to cut off a former woman friend's finger.

Superior Court Judge Marvin H. Lewis, concluding a two-day probation hearing, ordered Milner taken to the California Institution for Men at Chino for up to 90 days of diagnostic examination.

Because today is Milner's 27th wedding anniversary, Lewis allowed Milner to remain free until tomorrow morning when he is to surrender to sheriff's deputies.

Milner, 59, Beverly Hills, pleaded "no contest" last month to mayhem and solicting robbery assault charges growing out of the "finger-for-finger" vendetta against Maggie L. Hicks, 55, a former actress whose stage name was Margaret Savage.

Dr. George Thompson, a Los Angeles neurologist and psychiatrist, testified during the probation hearing that Milner was thrown from a horse in 1940 and suffered massive brain damage which impeded his memory.

Milner said he was unable to remember events leading up to the attack on Mrs. Hicks.

A grand jury indictment last July said Milner hired two ex-convicts in 1971 to torture and rob Mrs. Hicks who allegedly bit off the tip of a finger on his left hand. His primary motive was revenge, the indictment said.

One condition of his alleged agreement with the two ex-convicts, Clyde W. Jenkins and Patrick H. Earley, was that they cut off one of the woman's fingers and bring it to him, the indictment said.

Jenkins and Earley allegedly broke into her home in Ojai and attempted to sever a finger with a bolt cutter but they succeeded only in mutilating two of her fingers. They fled with several thousand dollars and her car which was later found wrecked and burning east of Ojai.

The indictment said Milner paid the two men $500 to carry out the torture-robbery scheme and later paid them $10,000 to murder her but they failed to carry through with the murder.

Milner is president of a holding company which deals mainly in real estate.

Play of king was tipoff

By Oswald & James Jacoby

South played quickly but unsuccessfully. At trick two he led a spade to his king. West ducked without batting an eye so South returned to dummy with a club; led a second spade and played his queen. West produced the ace and South had to lose another trump trick, a heart and the ace of diamonds.

"Nice play," said South. "But wouldn't you have felt silly if my spade holding had been five to the king-jack-ten?"

"Yes, I would," replied West. "However, you would have played the ten or the jack, not the king from that holding. In fact there was no holding where you would have played the king without having the queen in reserve."

West was quite right. South's attempt to get West to play the ace was doomed to failure against any good player, once he played the king. Had he played the queen it might have been a different story. Expert West might have decided that South held five trumps to the queen-jack and that a duck with the ace would lead to the ace and the king falling together on the next trump lead.

'Free' paper costs $315 in bail

MORGAN HILL (UPI) — An unidentified aerospace executive earning $40,000 a year thought he was getting a free newspaper. It cost him $315 bail instead.

When the Morgan Hill School District complained that its paper never arrived and the delivery boy said he left it daily, two policemen staked out the area.

They said they saw the executive pick up the paper Thursday and stroll to the corner. He read it while he waited for the company bus to pick him up.

The officers arrested him and quoted him saying: "It's not worth 15 cents having this happen, is it? I goofed up. I just picked up the paper."

He was booked on petty theft charges and released after posting the $315 bail.

Old, old wine

In the Tuscany hills of Italy where the Cianti wine grape is grown, paleontologists have discovered a million-year-old fossil grape vine they think may be an ancestor of the same "Vitis vinifera" cultivated there today.

Gunmen rob savings-loan, leave fake bomb behind

A Hacienda Heights savings and loan office was robbed of $10,000 Wednesday morning by two bandits in business suits and wigs who left a deadly-appearing but phony "bomb" behind to aid in their escape.

The holdup was at Prudential Savings and Loan Association, 15906 E. Gale Ave., where the two men entered with revolvers drawn. They were carrying a package and held the employes at gunpoint.

One of the men handed teller Penny McBurney a note demanding "all the money" and supplied her with a black briefcase to put the cash in. The money was removed from a wall safe which employes were forced to open.

As the two men left they placed the lethal-appearing package on a table and warned that it would explode if anyone called police. The device was was topped with a three-foot high telescoping antenna.

In spite of the warning, employes called the sheriff's department. When bomb squad officers arrived they evacuated the savings and loan and several adjacent stores before they examined the package.

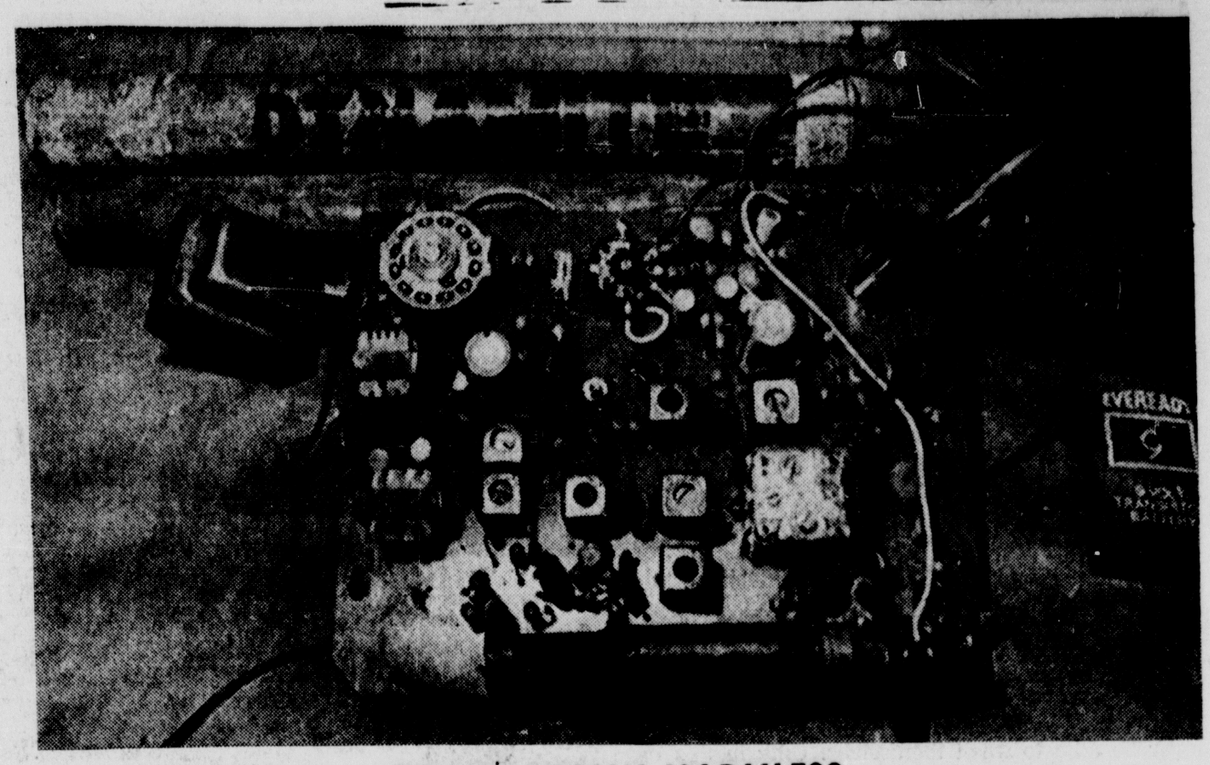
"We knew as soon as we examined it that it was phony," Sgt. Jack Palmer said. "The sticks that were supposed to be dynamite were highway flares."

Wires led from the three sticks to a circuit board, which appeared to be a timing device, and to a 9-volt transistor radio battery. Above it all stood the antenna.

When the robbers left the savihgs and loan they entered a vehicle but there was some confusion about whether it was a Corvette or a van.

Both men wore black wigs, false mustaches, orange makeup and dark business suits. Both were white. One was about 28, 6 foot 1 and weighed 150 pounds. The other was about 32.

The FBI was called into the investigation because the savings and loan association is insured by the federal government.



'BOMB' REALLY HARMLESS

This lethal-appearing but harmless device was left behind by two holdup men who warned that it would explode if the victims called police. The gunmen got away with $10,000 from a savings and loan business in Hacienda Heights. Bomb squad detectives called for evacuation of several buildings nearby, before they examined the device and found it contained no explosives, only highway flares.

Federal dollar inflow to Pomona: $236 million

P-B Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — Only 16 other cities in California received more federal money in fiscal 1974 than Pomona, according to a recent released report.

According to the report released by the Office of Economic Opportunity, Pomona received more than $187 million in federal funds for the Department of Defense.

The total federal outlay in the city was $236,804,000.

California received $31 billion in federal money, second highest in the nation.

The $187,570,000 spent by the Defense Department in Pomona was primarily for supply and construction contracts, with General Dynamics the major recipient.

Civilian pay rolls ($4,233,000) and military salaries, including active, reserve and retired personnel ($2,371,000) are also included in the Defense Department figure.

Social security payments made through HEW of $22 million represented the largest outlay of federal funds in the city outside of the Defense Department figures. The total HEW outlay in Pomona was $27,393,000.

Benefits paid by the Veterans Administration added $4,783,000, but payments on VA loans more than offset that outlay totaling $8,546,000.

Other Departments contributing more than $2 million were Treasury ($4,531,000), Postal Service ($3,504,000) and Civil Service Commission ($2,501,000).

Urban area parks given an edge in state parley here

Some 50 parks and recreation officials from throughout Southern California agreed in a meeting in Pomona Wednesday that outdoor recreation projects which save energy should be given priority in receiving federal funds.

They also agreed that prior recipients of grants should not receive double credit for successful performance on past projects.

And they felt that local governments with as little as five acres of developable land should be eligible to receive funds.

At a California State Department of Parks and Recreation hearing held at Pomona City Council Chamber the officials were evaluating a proposed criteria for disbursement of $12.6 million in federal funds.

The hearing was conducted by Willian Penn Mott Jr., director of the state Parks and Recreation Department. It was the first of four to be held in California, giving officials at the local level an opportunity to express their views on a proposed criteria being developed to determine which local outdoor recreation projects will receive the funds.

In evaluating the critera for energy conservation the group felt that those recreational projects nearer urban areas should receive more credit than those located greater distances from centers of population.

Although this is only one of 13 determinants which rate various projects, officials expressed concern over the amount of use a facility located in an outlying area might receive. Some indicated that this might be overcome by providing public transportation to distant areas.

Of the $12.6 million available, again this year, 50 per cent will be disbursed at the local city and county level, while the remaining portion will be retained by the state for developing its recreational projects.

Of the funds disbursed at the local level, District 8, comprised of Los Angeles, San Bernardino, Imperial, Orange and Ventura counties, will receive half, according to Mott.

"The present criteria we are using to rate these projects are not satisfactory and need to be updated," Mott said.

"Information from the four hearings will be applied when we set up the new criteria."

The new criteria will determine the relative value of competing grant projects and ensure uniformity in ranking them.

The system, up for consideration, has two levels of criteria. The first level will be used on all applications, to determine whether the project is eligible. The second will rate only eligible projects to determine which will receive funding.

Noninstructional areas first

School cut targets chosen

The Chaffey school board will cut into non-instructional areas before reducing staff and curriculum requirements if the March 4 tax override election is not successful.

The board agreed during a special seminar meeting Wednesday night that non-curriculum matters would be axed before the board considered any dismissal of teachers and administrators and cutbacks for student classroom requirements.

No official action was taken on the issue during the lengthy presentations of proposed graduation requirements, but a decision may be forthcoming sometime in March.

The district Curriculum Steering Committee, composed of about 22 teachers and administrators from the district's five regular and one continuation high schools, outlined graduation requirements for its 12,000 students. The requirements remained essentially the same, and 220 semester credits are still necessary for graduation.

Supt. Allan G. Smith reported 30 semester credits in English, 10 in science, 30 in social studies, five in driver's education, and enrollment each semester in physical education class are unchanged. A student also must take 10 units in fine or practical arts or foreign language, a new requirement.

Although the science requirement is relatively the same, a student may have the option of either taking 10 credits in semester work or successfully passing an examination on math skills to meet his requirements.

There are 135 required credits and 85 elective credits.

If the March 4 tax override is successful, the district will be allowed increases to the base revenue unit per student for three years. Senate Bill 90 provides money from a state allocation for average daily attendance per student plus revenue from local taxes.

The current expenditure for each student in the Chaffey district is $1,228. The base revenue per student in 1975-76 will be $1,278, and the district would ask for an additional $172 for a total of $1,450 expended on each child. During 1976-77, the base revenue of $1,332 would be increased by $239 to $1,571: and in 1977-78, it would go from $1,390 to $1,683 with an increase of $293.

Man, 19, in shooting death case sent to CYA

A young Pomona man who police said fatally shot 17-year-old Brian K. Hudson Oct. 13 has been committed to the custody of the California Youth Authority.

He is Sidney Tyrone Turner, 19, who was committed by Pomona Superior Court Judge Francis J. Garvey.

Turner originally was charged with murder in Hudson's death, but entered a plea of no contest to a lesser charge of involuntary manslaughter last month.

Hudson was shot in the head while standing in a group of youths in the 3100 block of Abbott Street. He lived four days before he died in Pomona Valley Community Hospital.

Turner maintained that the shooting was an accident and that the pistol fired when he removed it from his waistband to show it to Hudson.

Witnesses told police that Turner had been waving the pistol around and discussing youth gang membership when the gun went off. They said he already had fired one shot before shooting Hudson.

Man stabbed after squabble

A retired veteran living at the Kellogg Valley Inn, 2180 W. Valley Blvd., was reported in fair condition this morning at Pomona Valley Community Hospital after being stabbed Wednesday at the inn.

The victim, Charles G. La Ducca, 43, underwent surgery after being admitted and was being cared for today in the hospital's intensive care unit.

Police Wednesday arrested another resident of the inn, James Lee Wright, 42, in connection with the stabbing. He was booked on suspcion of assault with intent to commit murder.

Investigators reported that the two men had had a fight the day before and that Wednesday's stabbing was the result of ill feelings between the two.

La Ducca was stabbed in the small of his back and in one hand with a pocket knife, they said.

Those who skipped election day

35% of vote list slashed

By L. T. ROGERS
Asst. City Editor

Voter apathy last November is being reflected in the number of persons removed from San Bernardino County's voter registration list for failing to cast ballots.

Officials said they removed 105,702 names or 35 per cent of the voting list. The slash included 20,787 in the cities of Ontario, Upland, Montclair and Chino.

The cut leaves 194,270 county residents now eligible to vote, with 38,140 residing in the four West End cities.

By law, voters must vote in the general elections to remain on the voter registration list, said William Clinton, registrar of voters.

But to those who didn't vote last November, he mailed postcards to determine if they still resided at the registered address.

These persons were thus able to reregister by signing the card and mailing it back to his office. Thus far, some 15,000 of these cards have been received, said Clinton.

For the county, more Democrats than Republicans were removed from the voters' list — 56,878 to 39,309.

The number of persons still registered by party include:

Democrats, 97,444; Republicans, 73,555; American Independent, 931; Peace and Freedom, 162; miscellanous, 164; and declined to state, 6,587.

The total of 178,843, however, does not include the 15,000 persons who have since registered or who reregistered, he explained.

Clinton gave this breakdown for the West End cities:

ONTARIO — 9,302 names canceled, leaving 16,245 registered voters. Of those removed, 5,295 were Democrats and 3,404 were Republicans. This leaves 9,191 Democrats and 6,541 Republicans still registered.

MONTCLAIR — 3,136 names canceled, leaving 4,901 registered voters. Those removed included 1,708 Democrats and 1,153 Republicans. Remaining are 2,889 Democrats and 1,801 Republicans.

CHINO — 2,207 names canceled, leaving 4,776 persons registered. Canceled were 1,240 Democrats and 798 Republicans. Remaining are 2,721 Democrats and 1,876 Republicans.

UPLAND — 6,142 names canceled, leaving 12,218 voters registered. Removed were 2,800 Democrats and 2,901 Republicans. Still registered are 5,298 Democrats and 6,463 Republicans.

Recalling that only 177,995 of the 283,238 registered voters cast ballots at the November election, Clinton said this was the lowest turnout since the 1940s.

"This indicates that people are fed up with government and there is a general apathy," he added.

Clinton also reported that persons in the 18 to 21 age bracket, recently given the right to vote, do not turn out in large number.

"And in San Bernardino County we have a mobile population. A lot of people are leaving the county because of smog. But they were still on our files as registered voters," he added.

Clinton said those residents dropped from the registration list should reregister if they want to vote in a series of school district elections next March.

This will include a property tax measure in the Chaffey Union High School District.

The county figures compare with the state where 3.5 million residents — most of them non voters in the November election — were dropped.

Chaffey riot suspensions hit 69

Officials at Chaffey High School in Ontario said today that 69 students have been suspended as a result of the Friday riot on the campus that left numerous students injured and considerable property damage

Twenty-four of the students were arrested Friday for allegedly participating in fighting and rioting. One adult was also arrested.

Police reported that fighting between Anglo and Mexican-American students erupted into rioting, and more than 50 officers from five West End law enforcement agencies had to be called in to restore order to the campus. Numerous windows in North Hall were shattered.

School officials announced 45 new suspensions this week — bringing the total to 69 — noting that more than 200 students may have actually participated in the fighting and the rioting. However, school officials also pointed out that the 69 students under suspension will be able to give their side of the story in hearings. At the hearings the student is told why he has been suspended and the student and his parents have an opportunity to reply.

Dr. Fred C. Adams, Chaffey High School principal, said that he could not estimate when the first of the hearings will be held. Disciplinary action in the cases can range from a warning to avoid further trouble to expulsion.

The suspended students won't be permitted to register for the next term until after the hearings.

No further incidents have been reported at the high school as students completed registration for their new classes for the spring term and are taking their final examinations.

Adams said that administration officials and counselors will be visiting the classes during the final examinations this week in an attempt to find out what problems led to the Friday rioting and attempt to seek solutions.

Adams said that if any of the suspended students were found innocent of the charges against them during the hearings they would be allowed to take their final exams and register without loss of class time.

Cities on the federal dole

Concern is expressed from time to time that we are creating a society of welfare addicts—people who spend their lives on the public dole and whose children repeat the pattern.

The fact is that there is much more danger of our local governments becoming so accustomed to sucking on the bounteous federal teat that they will never be able to wean themselves. Only in this case we don't call it welfare but "revenue sharing," "Impact Cities" aid or a host of other names for a host of other federal programs.

Cleveland, the nation's 10th most populous city, is a prime example.

It has reached the point where Cleveland has become so dependent upon federal (and to a lesser degree, state) financial assistance that it would be completely bankrupt without it.

The city's 1975 budget is projected at $126 million. But local income and property taxes are expected to bring in only $74.9 million, which is $1.5 million short of the amount needed just to run the police department.

The difference of some $51.1 million will be made up with federal and state grants and subsidies, which in the past two years have totaled $143.5 million and $25 million respectively.

"If I were not able to get continued federal funds, this would be a one-department government—safety," says Mayor Ralph J. Perk. "There would be no money for recreation, health services, parks, rubbish collection or anything else."

It's said that Perk has carried the cup to Washington so many times he's worn a path.

Meanwhile, property taxes in Cleveland have been permitted to decline by $51 million and last November voters, perhaps having learned that the more they pay, the less service they get, turned down an income tax increase that would have added $16 million to the city's coffers.

Perk is not worried about the city's increasing addiction to the federal dollar. The money, he says, "belongs to the people."

Cleveland may differ on "the people's money." But if this city, with its strong industrial and commercial base, can't afford to govern itself, what hope is there for any city?

What happened to English?

At their annual convention in New Orleans, members of the National Council of Teachers of English (NCTE) decided that the new English usage section of the Scholastic Aptitude Test is "linguistically invalid" and should be dispensed with.

As reported by Education USA newsletter, the teachers agreed that the new test attempts to "limit students' linguistic expression to an arbitrarily established correct form."

Horror of horrors. But that's not all. This "superficial concept of 'correctness'" is racially and socially biased, the NCTE found, because it excludes the dialects of millions of students. This is especially distressing since the new test is used around the country to determine college admissions and placement in English courses.

Bye-bye Shakespeare. Bye-bye Declaration of Independence and Gettysburg Address. Junk everything else that represents an "arbitrarily established" literary standard and "superficial concept of 'correctness.'" And we certainly can't deny anyone college admission just because he don't talk English so good, or expect him to take a remedial rather than an advanced English course.

Whatever happened to the "quest for excellence" the educators were urging on us a few years back? Obviously, it ain't no more.

U.S. arms vs. U.S.?

During World War II our previous policy of selling scrap iron to Japan was scathingly criticized because Japan was sending it back in the form of weapons that killed our men and destroyed our equipment.

Today's variation of that situation refers to the Middle East. We have been selling armament including tanks and planes to Iran, Saudi Arabia, Jordan, Kuwait and Lebanon. We sold more to Iran alone than we did to Israel during the last fiscal year. More than 500 specialists are in Iran now teaching them how to use our F-14 jet fighter planes and M-60 tanks. Meanwhile, U.S. forces in Europe are undersupplied with the latter.

Some macabre jokes are going the rounds in Washington about what would happen if we should find it expedient to go to war with oil rich nations to preserve our foreign sources of petroleum. It has been suggested grimly that such a battleground would provide a good test of our weapons—American against American.

Nobody is really admitting he thinks we will become involved in a Mideast conflict. But the potential World War II parallel is there. And it is not a happy one.

Chino losing rural atmosphere

In reply to the request of San Bernardino County Supervisor Robert Townsend for opinions from area residents in regards to locating a major jet airport in the Chino Hills, I would like to refer to the San Bernardino Air Pollution Control District report, that states that the major source of air pollution in the Chino area follows the air flow through the valley from Orange County and the Riverside Freeway.

1. I would then like to ask how the citizens of Chino are going to react when they find they are living daily with massive doses of air pollutants resulting from not only the jets, but from the thousands of ground support vehicles involved in servicing and in moving freight and passengers both to and from the airport site.

2. I would again like to ask, how will the citizens of Chino, and those in the West End portion of the county react when they find they are gradually losing their rural zoning and country atmosphere as a result of Highway 71 and Euclid Ave. becoming major arteries lined with industry and commerce.

It might well be that if the people of Chino were made aware of all these facts, they would not only stop being undecided or in favor of having a major jet airport for a neighbor, but would become strongly opposed, as myself and many others are. I strongly urge that the people of Chino be thoroughly informed of all facts before Supervisor Townsend considers as valid a poll of their opinions. —Mrs. Joan Sexton, Chino.

Appeals for lost dog

An open letter to the person who found my daughter's dog. I have tried all normal channels, pounds, three local and non-local.

I have placed an ad in said newspaper offering a reward. Scouted neighborhoods asking people by the undreds, driven all around until I was tired.

My daughter, Laura, whose dog Lancer was, traveled near and far. ..I am sure the dog is in the area. Lancer is a large Webb Line Irish setter, auburn in color, with choke chain and a large cyst on the left front leg.

I want to thank whoever has the dog, for a daughter with a long face, for they have a friend and companion. I wish they could see my daughter looking everywhere for her dog, checking newspapers, etc.

I want to give the party my congratulations for making the world a little sadder place to live in. If they will call me I will also give them or mail them Lancer's papers because they certainly are no good without the dog. — C. Payson, 402 E. Foothill Blvd., Pomona.

JACK ANDERSON

The secret life of H. L. Hunt

WASHINGTON — H. L. Hunt, the eccentric oil billionaire, kept a tight lock during his life on a Pandora's box. When he died a few weeks ago at age 85, the lid was lifted for us. What we found, attested to in a suppressed court document, is an incredible tale of bribery, infidelity, corruption, tax cheating, political manipulation and worse.

The charges were brought by two of the old tycoon's closest associates—his former personal assistant, John Curington, and trusted corporate aide John Brown.

Both have now been indicted for allegedly siphoning off funds from the Hunt empire. But their charge, made jointly under oath, shouldn't be dismissed without investigation.

Haroldson Lafayette Hunt was a crusty curmudgeon, who liked to boast he was "the richest man in the world" but who had a reputation as a skinflint. He packed his lunch to his office in a brown paper sack and spread whole wheat sandwiches and dried prunes on his desk, using the Wall Street Journal for a tablecloth.

But the secret life of the oil billionaire according to Curington and Brown, was a different story. They portray him as a big-stakes gambler who squandered money to gratify his hates. Among his victims were some of the biggest names in American politics.

The story was buried in the legal filings of a 1970 lawsuit. After Curington and Brown made their charges, the suit was settled and the sworn statements were withdrawn. But we have obtained copies of the suppressed nater-ial. Among the allegations are these:

— That Hunt "spent huge sums of cash" to mail out "an attack on John F. Kennedy and the Roman Catholic Church."

—That Hunt furnished cash to "leading anti-Semitic propagandist . . with instructions for the funds to be used to create an unfavorable image for Jews."

—That the oilman "spent large sums of cash" to defeat the late Lyndon Johnson, Sens. Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn., William Fulbright, D-Ark., and Alan Cranston, D-Calif. The document charges Hunt's corporate funds and employes were used for political purposes.

—That Hunt cash went to Richard Nixon. This secret financing, it has been reported elsewhere, helped to put Nixon into the vice presidency in 1952.

— That Hunt money was behind the George Wallace-Curtis LeMay third-party ticket in 1968. One estimate puts the Hunt contribution at $1 million.

—That Hunt had a "confidential and clandestine transaction" with Federal Communications Commissioner Robert E. Lee. In other testimony, a lawyer quotes Curington as saying Hunt rewarded the commissioner for helping with his right-wing Life Line broadcasts. Lee acknowledged that he and Hunt were "pretty good friends" and that Hunt frequently called him, once about employes for Life Line. But Lee said all he ever got from Hunt was a quart of pecans one Christmas. "There were no business dealings," said the FCC commissioner.

—That Hunt once admitted he had "stolen in excess of $8 million from himself," using Swiss bank accounts. He allegedly told the tax collectors he lost it gambling.

—That the billionaire used his employes to try to collect an $800,000 gambling debt from a Nevada casino owner then used employes to protect him "from notorious gambler Frank Erickson, who claimed H.L. Hunt owed him $430,000." Hunt once claimed he bet $125,000 with Erickson on a single football game.

—That Hunt's employes were required to recruit women to travel with him to explain away his infidelities and to straighten out a scandal involving a relative and a prominent Texas matron.

—That Hunt sold food from his HLH product line "unfit for human consumption knowing that such sales would end up in Negro and low-income areas."

—That Hunt used illegal Mexican labor at his "Indian Hot Spring Resort in Hudspeth county, Texas" and diverted company funds to the private use of his family.

—That Hunt made "gifts to public officials in return for favors." He allegedly also charged off as company expenses favor-currying gifts to both Arab and Jewish groups.

—That Hunt compelled a bank and other business firms "which did business with Hunt Oil Co. to make certain kickbacks." In some cases, Hunt required them to contribute to his right-wing foundation and his Life Line broadcasts, his former associates allege.

America the bountiful

It's a temptation when the headlines are so gloomy for a professional observer to overreact. With our credibility at stake we dare not get too Pollyannaish.

Also, wearing blinders, we might expose those who trust us to a broadside brickbat.

Yet we all want to know what's next. We all try to sneak a peek beyond the horizon. And you can find an economist willing to tell you just about anything you want to hear. Then there is Ben Wattenberg.

Ben Wattenberg would have every reason to say something other than what he is saying. He's a respected consultant on matters economic and political. He is a liberal.

Ben was a speechwriter for L.B.J. He is a trusted adviser of several of Capitol Hill's most prominent Democrats. This introduction is important because his prognosis is a diametrical contradiction to the present liberal line.

Necessarily, Democratic politicians are obligated to beat their breasts over how bad things are, thus to blame the Republican White House.

But I am going to let you hear not what they say publicly but what they hear privately from Ben Wattenberg.

"We have been naysayed, sniped at and doomsdayed to death. The rhetoric of our time mainly has been gloom, guilt, crisis, dismality and failure.

"Yet when we examine the data — hard, measurable stuff from the U.S. Census and Bureau of Labor Statistics, we get a totally different story.

"More people, black and white, are earning more money than ever before. They live in better homes, own more cars and other possessions. They have more vacation time from jobs they mostly like. Their young are going to college, In short, they are progressing and they know it."

Wattenberg, though a liberal, blames the McGovernites for the exaggerating negativism.

During the last dozen years of turbulence and turmoil, through wars, assassinations, political scandal, Americans were able to sift out the good ideas from the bad ones and emerge from each test stronger.

The energy crisis? There, says Ben Wattenberg, is an American-type problem!

"To solve it we need money, technology, fuel and national will — and we've got them all in abundance in this country.

"The energy shortage essentially involves a technological problem, and technological problems are hand-tailored for America."

Wattenberg admits that he is a "chronic optimist" but says any study of American history shows that it's been the optimist who was also the realist.

Our most optimistic dreams were exceeded. The pessimists were all buried in unmarked graves.

Just in jest

Briefly our faith in politicians was revived when the news came out that our new governor had spurned a Lincoln limousine and settled for a 1974 Plymouth. However, when a bit later we learned that instead of settling for 1974 Plymouths at a little over $3,000 each, our state treasurer ordered, at taxpayer's expense, a 1975 Cadillac costing $10,323, and our attorney general two new Lincoln convertibles at $9,400 each . . . well somehow it once again became painfully apparent that where political reformation is concerned, one swallow doesn't make a summer. On the other hand I suppose we should be thankful the state treasurer and attorney general, apparently fearing that they might antagonize the American labor vote, didn't order Rolls Royces.

TOM TIEDE

Political early bird catches cold

GILFORD, N.H. — (NEA) — When, following schedule, the Morris Udall presidential campaign stopped at a home here for a reception, there was naught but embarrassed confusion. The home looked deserted, the front walk was covered with snow and there were no cars of the faithful to be seen. "Well, said a Udall aide, miffed but hopeful while he whistled for inside attention, "we are a bit early."

Early — and how. There are no records for this kind of thing save memory, but it appears the congressman from Arizona has established a record for premature presidential electioneering. It is 14 months until New Hampshire holds the first primary, almost two years until the national balloting, but here he is shaking hands and begging votes. "I want to restore leadership," he says. Yak, yak, yak and yawn.

At that, Udall's but one of many suiting up before the game commences. Jerry Ford announced his intentions to make a legitimate bid for the office last year, former Oklahoma Sen. Fred Harris has been sniffing New Hampshire trails for months, Henry Jackson has come, Lloyd Bentsen, Jimmy Carter — and any number of others who forage in secrecy.

"Every weekend it's someone else," says a local, "senators, congressmen, governors, Oscar Weinermeyer of Oshkosh — God knows there's still plenty of time to get more candidates than voters."

The natives, to be sure, don't normally mind. Incoming politicos drop dollars into ther economy, create publicity which does things for the tourism industry — and, besides, some of the candidates are more fun than the freakhouses at the state fair. Says an observer: "We had this one guy come up one year who was so dumb he didn't know the state borders. He spent a whole morning in one town, smiling and waving to all, before he found out the place was in Vermont.

Yet if this kind of activity can be fully appreciated during an election year, it strains interest one year before. Udall is drawing scant crowds and Harris does little more than upset the population with schemes to the left of George McGovern. What's more, says Carroll County Democratic Chairman Don Ekberg, "This early, all they do is screw up the party organization."

When they come in so far in advance of reality, Ekberg reasons, candidates tear at the unity of small state politics. The result is that friends side against friends, resources are taxed and enthusiasm is wounded.

But the precocious candidates are undaunted. Udall, in fact, makes light of years past when he criticized presidential hopefuls for starting early. His sudden switch in philosophy he says, "Only shows that the older you get, the wiser you get."

Udall claims the lesson of recent American politics is that the nation needs new leaders and they can't be created by people going to the library and reading biographies. "We (the new leaders) have to get out and mingle. We have to be seen," he says. The oldies have the edge in recognition, Udall insists, and would unfairly retain it if early campaigning were forbidden.

The Udall point is correct but it rings with a dull thud because of circumstantial political realities. If the new leaders were showing New Hampshire new truths or politics this early, the contribution would be of greater value. Instead, Mo Udall looks greatly like Ed Muskie, Fred Harris has somewhat of a rhetorical resemblance to Ben Spock, and Lloyd Bentsen, though a new face nationally, sounds and acts like the rich Texan he is.

For all their fresh identities, early campaigners here have lacked fresh insights — Harris wants to tax the rich and spare the poor. If the newboys are no more imaginative than the oldboys, early entry is a sham.

Still, the candidates push on, energetically if not wisely. Brochures, posters, interviews, 12-hour days, caravans, ho-hum. Why? "To be a good president," says Udall, "you've got to be good and you've got to be president." It's the kind of thing Harry Truman might have said, and probably did.

But never mind. The fact is there is another element in primary politics this time. Jealous of the attention New Hampshire receives at primary time, Vermont is now contemplating holding its primary on the same date, which of course would prompt New Hampshire to advance its race at least a week, which might well force similar legislation by Vermont — and before we know it, says Mo Udall, "the first primary may be next month" and all this earliness would make some sense.

ANN LANDERS

16 is a tender age for atheism; many change tune later in life

Dear Ann Landers: This is for the girl who had read her little sister's diary and wrote, "Sis and her boyfriend are involved in some very heavy petting. What's even worse, my sister's boyfriend does not believe in God."

I am a 16-year-old atheist and I'm not ashamed. Atheism is not evil, nor is it immoral, it's just another way of thinking. Some of my best friends are either atheists or they seriously doubt the existence of God. I did not choose them as friends because of this common bond. They are decent, honest people. They don't use drugs, and they've never been in trouble with the police.

Atheists do not want or need help in becoming Christians. I feel God is just a crutch, and even though He is comforting to others I cannot use Him.

Please print this letter, Ann. I've never seen anything in your column about atheists and I think it's about time. —Not Ashamed

Dear Not Ashamed: I respect your right to be an atheist, but I would not be surprised if you changed your mind by the time you reached adulthood. Sixteen is a tender age to make such a big decision.

You say, "God is just a crutch and you cannot use Him." None of us knows when we will break a leg and need not one crutch—but two.

Speaking strictly for myself, I can't imagine excluding God from my life. I need all the help I can get. So do you, dear, but you don't know it — yet.

Dear Ann Landers: Here is my bit of Monday-morning quarterbacking for some young guys out there who are playing some pretty risky games without knowing the turf, the score, or the league. I learned the hard way.

If you don't want children, don't order any. Sounds crazy? Well, get smart.

When you go to bed with a girl, if she is anywhere from 13 to 42, the order might be filled. Never mind what SHE says about the precautions she has taken. She could be lying, uninformed or just plain mistaken. The result may be an unexpected, ill-timed loveless marriage. 8 know because — It Happened To Me

Dear You: It has also happened to millions of others. Thank you for putting it into a few crisp, well-chosen words. (Are you listening, students?)

Dear Ann Landers: A few years ago, a woman entered my husband's life and caused me no end of grief. She took my husband away. I was so full of hate I spent almost every waking hour wishing she was dead. I really believed that if I wished hard enough, it would happen.

Within seven months that woman died of a broken blood vessel in her head. They called it an aneurysm. She had never been sick a day in her life. It was totally unexpected.

My husband came back to me and I accepted him. It wasn't easy, but we were able to make a go of it. Then, six months later, my beloved brother dropped dead of the very same thing. Now I am so filled with guilt I am miserable. I think God is paying me back. Please say something to help. —Wretched and Grieving

Dear Friend: God doesn't "pay people back." Both deaths were a coincidence. Your wishing the woman dead had nothing to do with her dying. Your brother's fatal aneurysm would have occurred regardless.

I suggest counseling—either by your clergyman or a therapist. You must get this monkey off your back or you'll crack up. Get going.

Got those wedding bell blues over costs . . . guest list . . .what to wear . . . and other details? Ann Lander's completely new "The Bride's Guide" will help. Does talking to plants help?

By AL ROSSITER JR.
UPI Science Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — Can you help plants by talking to them?

That idea, apparently shared by some people, may have been encouraged by a lie detector expert whose experiments suggest plants have some mysterious sort of awareness of things going on about them.

The controversial research, popularized by a book, was the subject recently of a symposium at the annual meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Two scientists said they were unable to duplicate the work of Cleve Backster, research director of the Backster Research Foundation at San Diego, Calif., which indicated by electrical voltage changes in leaves that plants perceived the death of brine shrimp in another room.

Backster replied that the attempts to repeat his results are inconclusive because the work at Cornell University and the Science Unlimited Research Foundation, San Antonio, Texas, did not follow the exact laboratory techniques used in the original experiments. Backster said he has not attempted to repeat the work.

At a news conference, Dr. Arthur W. Galston, professor of biology at Yale University, said it is known that plants have electrical activity which is affected by environmental influences such as gravity, light and temperature.

But whether there is some sort of communications link which would make plants aware of non-environmental changes is a different matter.

"What we're dealing with is a set of data which purport to show that a certain situation exists in nature," Galston said. Then turning to Backster sitting next to him, he said: "And you are withholding final judgment on whether this is correct or not?

"Absolutely," Backster replied.

Why, Galston was asked, was the subject brought before such a prestigious forum in the first place?

"We have a gap between what scientists believe and what the lay public believes," he said.

Asked if there is any harm in believing that talking to plants does any good, he replied: "It probably does some good to the people who talk to the plants. I think they're feeling lonely.

"Let's face it, if you live in New York City in a concrete jungle and your landlady doesn't let you have pets in the house and you have a philodendron over in a corner, it would be comforting to you to know that there was another sentient thing in that apartment."

THE LIGHTER SIDE

On hospital suites for presidents

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. William Proxmire has called for an end to interservice rivalry in building Presidential suites at military hospitals.

As he points out in a news release, the number of Presidential suites in this area already doubles the number of Presidents available to occupy them.

But someone apparently decided the existing suites at Walter Reed Army Medical Center and Bethesda Naval Medical Center weren't enough.

For now, according to Proxmire, "the Army is building yet another Presidential suite in its new hospital being constructed alongside Walter Reed."

At first glance, this may look like a typical example of Pentagon overkill.

Examine it closely, however, and you will see that it is not all that redundant.

Presidential health is not a predictable factor. If he gets sick, nobody can be sure whether it will be an Army type disease or a Navy type malady.

So prudence dictates that facilities for both be maintained.

Suppose, for example, the President went for a cruise down the Potomac aboard the White House yacht and developed an acute case of seasickness.

It would be pretty awkward to take him to an Army hospital for that type of treatment.

Also consider that any Presidential ailment, no matter how trivial, is subject to extensive analysis, commentary, speculation and reportorial detail.

Given the massive publicity that attends the Presidency, an after-dinner belch can take on the proportions of terminal dyspepsia.

Now suppose, as could happen, we had a hypochondriac in the White House. And suppose the Army got credit for saving his life every time he suffered a hangnail.

Consciously or not, the President is going to feel a measure of gratitude toward that particularly service when he okays the military budget.

Under those circumstances the Navy would be lucky to get enough funds for a couple of gondolas. So self-preservation demands that the Navy hospital maintain its own Presidential suite.

When he goes to the Army-Navy football game, the President spends time on both sides of the field. As Commander in Chief, he should exhibit the same degree of impartiality when he requires hospitalization.

Say the President dislocates his jaw trying to chew gum while walking. He could check into the Presidential suite at Walter Reed for X-rays and then move on to Bethesda to have his jaw put in a sling.

It costs a bit more, sure. But it's not too great a price to pay for a strong national defense.

Easy on sunlamp to avoid problems

By LAWRENCE E. LAMB, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am 17 and, like many of my friends, I use a sunlamp for my complexion. I know that too much utlra violet light can be dangerous.

I usually take it 10 minutes at a time, but I'm not sure when a safe time would be to use it again.

I'm concerned about this, and I'm sure it would be helpful to other users, if you would comment on this.

DEAR READER—I'm not an enthusiast of the use of sun lamps. Enough ultra violet light to maintain a tan can cause injury to the underlying skin and adds to the accumulative effects on sun light. That lovely sun tan habit leads to an old skin before your time, specifically loss of skin elasticity and wrinkling.

Some are more susceptible to the harmful effects of too much sun than others and are apt to develop spots on the skin that are often the forerunner to skin cancer. So, if you want to have a hide that looks like an alligator early in life, just overdo the sun-worshipping bit, whether it is the summer sun for fun or the sun lamp in the bedroom.

For those who insist on using it, I would recommend that you follow the directions carefully, for both distance and time exposure. Try to limit that urge to get a deep tan and be satisfied with avoiding a milk-white appearance. For safe distances you should limit exposure to no more than a few minutes a day. A low-level daily exposure is better than infrequent large, and sometimes harmful, doses. READ THE DIRECTIONS ON THE LAMP THEN FOLLOW THEM, but stay on the short side of the time range recommended.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am concerned about the amount of aspirin my husband consumes. He takes as many as four aspirin at a time. How often I couldn't say. He also drinks, and I know the aspirin hasn't worn off as he's so dopey when he drinks along with taking aspirin.

I'm concerned he could kill himself on aspirin and alcohol. I read that one should never mix barbiturates or sleeping pills and alcohol. I know aspirin isn't a barbiturate, yet the amount of aspirin he takes combined with his drinking has me worried. I'd sure appreciate an answer.

DEAR READER — He shouldn't do it. It is not the same danger that you get from the combination of aspirin and barbiturates or sleeping pills, but there are dangers.

I am more worried about the possibility of bleeding. Alcohol is a powerful irritant to the stomach and using much of it can cause an inflammation of the stomach, or gastritis. That is part of the reason for the stomach upset that often follows drinking.

Aspirin in any large quantities tends to decrease the blood's clotting action or may induce bleeding. Aspirin may also burn a small hole in the lining of the stomach, causing bleeding. Obviously, the combination of aspirin and alcohol is a no-no. This is a good thing for cold sufferers to remember when they take aspirin and try to cure their colds with booze.

The big question is why does you husband take aspirin? If he has a medical problem he should get some attention and proper treatment.

Parent urges sand fill under play equipment

Should school playground equipment be placed on sand or blacktop?

This was a question posed to Chino school officials Tuesday by a parent of a child attending E.J. Marshall Elementary School.

The school board decided to conduct a study involving placement of such equipment as jungle gyms after the parent, Thomas Mitchell, blamed his daughter's recent accident on blacktopping.

Mitchell said his daughter, Christine, a first grader, fell from a jungle gym last week onto blacktopping on the playground.

"Why wasn't the equipment she was injured on placed on sand?" he asked.

Supt. Royce Lapp said a study was conducted several years ago regarding sand or blacktop, and cost became a major factor. "The cost alternatives of placing it on sand became prohibitive."

"This was not a black and white situation," he added. "The conclusion from our study was that black topping was not justified."

However, Lapp said any new playground equipment would be put on a sand base. He added the district has not reviewed the number of accidents resulting from blacktopping.

Mitchell said that safety of the children should be the first concern, over cost.

Board President Eva Weiszbrod said a number of Marshall parents had expressed concern, and the matter should be studied.

Lapp said the best solution suggested by health officials a few years ago was to cover the blacktop with a cork or resilient type base.

According to Charles Johnson, school principal, Mitchell's daughter received a bruise on her forehead and was treated by her doctor after her accident.

Lancaster seeks license change to aid teens

ASSEMBLYMAN WILLIAM LANCASTER, R-62nd Dist., has introduced a bill that would permit 16-and 17-year-old persons to be employed to drive vehicles covered under Class 3 licenses.

At present, a state law prohibits those under 18 from driving for hire. Under Lancaster's proposed measure, those minors holding a Class 3 license could be employed to drive two-axle vehicles, three-axle housecars and cars pulling trailers which weigh less than 6,000 pounds.

"Since the law already permits 16-and 17-year-olds to drive these vehicles, I see no reason why they can't be paid to do so," said Lancaster.

"The young job seeker is one of the most severely affected by the present economic situation. This bill will provide more job opportunities for these young people."

REP. JIM LLOYD, D-35th Dist., said he opposes President Ford's plan to ask Congress for $300 million in aid to South Vietnam.

"The American people have made it clear they do not want any more involvement in Southeast Asia," he added.

"I have no objection to the supplying of munitions to South Vietnam that are surplus to our own military forces but new commitments or debts to South Vietnam will be met with strong objections from me and other members of Congress."

Claire McCabe is wed to Craig Alan Bickel

Miss Claire McCabe and Craig Alan Bickel exchanged wedding vows in an ecumenical ceremony performed by Dr. James Angell of the Claremont Presbyterian Church and the Very Rev. Msgr. William Barry of Our Lady of the Assumption Catholic church.

The double-ring evening ceremony was held in the Claremont Presbyterian Church.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C.L. McCabe of Claremont, the bride was given in marriage by her father. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Donald L. Bickel of Placentia.

The bride wore a gown of white sata peau, fashioned with an empire bodice of imported French chantilly lace and a full chapel train. A Juliet cap of satin and lace held her full-length veil of silk illusion.

She carried a bouquet of white roses, baby's breath and a white orchid.

Mrs. Marianne Halleran, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Cathy Todd, Miss Ann Harrington and Mrs. Sharon Sigurdson.

George Dearing was best man. Ushers were John Rosenbaum, Rand Reasoner and Micheal McCabe, brother of the bride.

Lisa Todd was flower girl and candlelighter were Roberto Villanueva and Bill Halleran.

A reception at Griswold's honored the newlyweds.

Special out-of-town guests included the groom's grandmother, Mrs. Dorothy Bickel and Mrs. Marjorie Purtell, both of Painesville, Ohio, a great-aunt and uncle of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Robert McGrath of St. Paul, Minn., and Mrs. Richard Sigurdson of St. Paul.

The bride attended college of St. Catherine in St. Paul and the University of Southern California where she was a Little Sister at Chi Phi fraternity.

Mr. Bickel is a graduate of USC and a member of Chi Phi. He is employed at Rockwell International, Seal Beach.

Ask Dr. Brothers

Retirement blues

By DR. JOYCE BROTHERS

DEAR DR. BROTHERS: My husband lost his job shortly before Christmas. He was the first to be laid off because of his age. He is in his 60s and is nearing the time when he would retire anyway. This came as a terrible blow to him and he hasn't been himself since. I had planned that we would take a trip to visit relatives and I felt this would be good for him, but now he wants to stay home. It isn't a matter of money, for my relatives are well off and had offered to foot the bill.

I hesitate to mention this in a letter, but he used to be warm and close in a physical way. This was reassuring and comforting to me because I believe love and sex shouldn't die, and my feelings for him haven't. Lately he seems withdrawn and distant and this worries me. I felt getting away from home might help restore him. —C.K.

Dear C.K.: In this particular case, I think you might be wise to follow your husband's inclinations and remain at home for a time. Your husband has had a distressing change in his life because of losing his job. Travel now, even though it would be a vacation, means more change and a constantly new environment. Change produces stress and most experts today agree that we should minimize the amount of stress in our lives whenever possible.

This may be a time when your husband especially needs to be around familiar things, to sleep in his own bed and to dine at his own table. He needs to be reassured by what he owns and knows rather than to be thrust into new situations which might, at another time, be interesting and stimulating.

He needs to res-establish his sense of self-worth. If he is like most men, he has suffered a loss of selfesteem. Unfortunately, many men identify so much with their jobs that when they lose a job, they feel a part of themselves is gone. They feel diminished and lose self-respect. Help your husband overcome this by letting him know that you love and respect him for what he is, not for what he does for a living. What we do professionally and what we are are two different things.

Because of your husband's feelings of insecurity, this is a particularly bad time for him to accept the generosity of relatives. In his mind, this might be interpreted as a sign that they are more successful and that he has failed. He might readily accept this same offer in a few months when he has regained his self-respect.

In a way, your husband is suffering from a sense of loss of "territory." Humans establish claims on symbolic areas, such as the office where they work, just as lower animals claim particular places and things. According to a Canadian psychiatrist, Dr. Gerald Sarwer-Foner, the primitive parts of the human brain react to threats to "territory" in the way animal brains react to hunting, living and mating may become physically ill because of the strain associated with that loss of job and territory.

A person's home is his castle, and at this point, it's important for your husband to have a place to relax and to call his own.

I'm sure you'll find that once he adjusts to retirement your husband will return to his normally responsive self. Lack of interest in sex is one of the firt things to go when a person is depressed and insecure.

Encourage him to find new interests and to look on retirement, not as retirement from life, but as a temporary change, one that will give him in which to look for new choices that may lead to new interests.

Seminar scheduled

Brides-to-be and their mothers will attend the annual spring bridal seminar at Griswold's Inn, Claremont, at 7 p.m., Feb. 6.

Business and professional consultants representing different problem areas include: Dr. William Boyle, Claremont; Mrs. Marge Gross, assistant women's editor of the Daily Report; and Paul Mayer of The Flower Shop.

Speakers from Griswold's Old School House shops are: John Keil, branch manager of United California Bank; Des Machen of Artisan's Photography; and Mrs. Marilyn Mendenhall of The Bridal Shop.

There is no charge for the seminar but reservations are requested and may be made by calling 626-2411.

NFL clubs like Trojans

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — University of Southern California's Trojans won their second national championship in three years this past season and in the pro football draft they showed why.

USC set a National Football League record by having 14 of its 21 seniors on the squad chosen by the pros, breaking Ohio State's mark of 13 in 1971.

John McKay, the glib white-haired Trojan coach whose son was among those drafted, could find room for one demurrer, though.

"We must not have any real good players," quipped the 51-year-old McKay, who has produced more national champion football teams than any USC coach in history.

"We didn't have anybody drafted on the first round."

Tailback Anthony Davis, the No. 2 Heisman Trophy vote-getter and one nemesis of Notre Dame, wasn't taken until the second round—the 37th player.

But once the first member of McKay's fourth national championship team was claimed by the New York Jets, it didn't take long for the others to follow.

Defensive back Charles Phillips (Oakland), offensive tackle Bill Bain (Green Bay), and defensive tackle Art Riley (Minnesota) all went in the second round and All-America linebacker Richard "Batman" Wood (Jets) was gone in the third.

"It proves we're NO. 1," said Al Olsen, a junior music major whose judgement was echoed by other USC students. "That wraps it all up. How many people went from Oklahoma?"

Of the 442 players taken in the two-day college draft completed Wednesday, USC's closest competitor was its Rose Bowl victim Ohio State, which again had 13 selected. Nebraska had 12 and was followed by Maryland, 11, and Oklahoma, Penn State and Notre Dame with 10 each.

"I think we had a good record," junior dentistry student John Horsley said of the 9-1-1 Trojans. "And the draft was a pretty accurate representation of it. It was unusual we had so much talent in one class and I don't think it'll happen again in quite some time.

Overshadowed at tailback by Davis, Allen Carter (New England) was the only Trojan to go in the fourth round but both tight end Jim Obradovich (New York Giants) and Rhodes scholar quarterback Pat Haden (Los Angeles) were claimed in the seventh round.

Other USC players selected were nose guard Otha Bradley (San Diego) 10th round, defensive back Marvin Cobb (Cincinnati) 11th, linebacker Dale Mitchell (San Francisco) 13th, offensive tackle Steve Knutson (Atlanta) 16th, split end John McKay (Cleveland) 16th, center Bob McCaffray (Green Bay) 16th.

Despite the record number of his Trojans drafted, though, the USC coach said he doesn't want to be judged by the pros.

"We're very tickled for the youngsters that have been drafted," senior McKay said. "But I can't feel good about the ones who were drafted because then I'd have to feel bad about the ones who weren't.

"There were a lot of good football players at a lot of schools not drafted. We don't understand how the pros decide who the best players are.

"It doesn't prove anything to me. I never assess my teams on what the pro scouts decide."

Of the seven seniors left unpicked by the pros, only place kicker Chris Limahelu and linebacker Ed Powell were prominent starters.

"I'm a little disappointed," said Limahelu, the school's alltime top place kicker. "But I'm happy for the ones who were drafted. They were almost all the seniors.

"I thought all the guys, including myself would be taken. But I guess I was wrong."

Most of the top talent was snatched up on Tuesday's opening seven rounds and there were very few major items Wednesday. There was one major trade involving Baltimore and Washington and the Jets, who brought on an NFL ruling against raiding the World Football League last season, dipped into the ranks of the rival league again.

The Colts dealt two veterans —10-year guard Glenn Ressler and wide receiver Cotton Speyrer—to Washington for the Redskins' 12th round pick this year and 16th next season in what seemed like a steal for Washington. There is some speculation, however, that the deal may be attached to the Redskins' releasing assistant Ted Marchibroda recently to become the new head coach of the Colts.

The Jets grabbed off one of the premier receivers in the WFL in James Scott, a 6-foot-0, 185-pounder who played with the Chicago Fire last season. Scott, described by Fire Coach Jim Spavital as, "a possible second Paul Warfield", has indicated that he will attend the Jets' rookie testing session Saturday.

Leos run past Whittier, 84-65

By DON BRADLEY
P-B Staff Writer

La Verne College rolled over visiting Whittier, 84-65, in the Supertent Wednesday night and took over second place in the conference.

With Occidental defeating a Redlands team crippled by injuries, 63-52, the Leopards moved by the Bulldogs into the number two position, a half game behind league leading Oxy.

The Leos found themselves forced into a running game because of the Poets aggressive defense and responded well.

Sophomore guard Jon Russ scored 21 of his 23 points in the second half, mostly on long jumpers that had coach Art Bias almost tying knots in the towel he was clutching.

Russ missed his first four shots of the half and then connected on five straight plus a free throw before missing. He followed that with two more field goals sandwiched around six straight free throws.

"I think our fast break, something we haven't been doing, carried us tonight," said Bias. "With the pressure Whittier put on us, there wasn't anything else we could do."

Bias praised the play of both his guards, Russ and Dave Castaneda and also that of Don Carter who came off the bench to score six points and grab five rebounds, mostly in the second half.

Bias had said he would start Tom Jones at Bill Rockwood's spot at forward. But when the lineups were announced, the 6-4 Rockwood was back in the lineup after missing two games because of a ruptured tendon in his right ankle. He scored 11 points and had eight rebounds.

But when Whittier made its move and went ahead, 43-42, in the second half, Bias sent in Carter to replace Rockwood.

"I think Carter gave us more movement," Bias explained. "I think his play along with Russ and Castaneda was the key to our game tonight. Russ was our only free throw shooter that could hit.

Russ was 7-for-7 from the charity line in the second half and 7-for-12 from the floor. Castenada was 5-for-8 from the floor and scored 11 of his 13 points in the second half. Carter didn't shoot much, but when he did he scored.

"I'm very pleased with the way we played," said Bias. "I'm happy our guys were able to withstand the intensity of Whittier's play. We started slowly both halves"

Whittier coach Dave Jacobs shook up his lineup a bit and started John Daily at guard and Mark Erwin at forward while Eric Peterson and Ray Garwacki and Kent Wagner sat on the bench. However those three and four other players all saw action as Jacobs shuffled his lineup frequently and used 12 players

The Poets jumped out in front, 6-2 The game was five minutes and 22 seconds old before Rockwood scored his first basket to tie the score, 8-8 Whittier surged back out in front and held leads of four to six points.

But Tim Gillette kept the Leopards in the game with his shooting in the first half. Gillette hit his first six shots. He scored 10 of the Leos' first 14 points and 12 of the first 22.

Dan Carroll put the Leos ahead 24-22 with 5:14 left in the half. Carter, Gillette, Carroll and Rockwood tallied as the Leopards scored six unanswered baskets to spurt out in front, 32-24.

Walnut takes command

By KEVIN CLOE
P-B Staff Writer

Walnut High now has a two-game advantage entering the second round of Hacienda League competition.

The Mustangs, fourth-ranked in the CIF 2-A basketball poll, closed out first round play and remained unbeaten by knocking off second-place Bonita Wednesday afternoon, 76-63.

The victory gave the defending Hacienda League champions a 7-0 record, while Bonita and Alta Loma are two games back at 5-2. Alta Loma was upset by San Dimas to provide the tie for second.

The game was much closer than the score may indicate. In fact, the Mustangs didn't put the game away until 2:50 showed on the gymnasium clock.

"It was another team effort," grinned Walnut head coach Bill Murray. "I wasn't really-worried about the outcome. I figured in the end . . . well . . . you know. We just gave Steve Sly (Bonita's center) too many easy shots in the first half. We made a couple of adjustments at halftime and took away those shots in the second half. If we would have done that earlier, the game probably wouldn't have been that close."

Sly, the 6-foot-3 junior center, was the dominant force in the first 16 minutes of play. Crashing the offensive boards, Steve connected on all nine attempts from the floor to finish the half with 18 points. However, he only went three-for-six in the second half to end up as the contest's leading scorer with 24.

Walnut hit 50 per cent of its shots from the field in the first quarter and held a slim 20-18 edge. Then the Mustangs improved their shooting percentage to 58 per cent in the second period to hold a 40-35 advantage at halftime.

Three Mustangs had reached double figures before the first 16 minutes of play had been completed. Forward Ken Czarnecki, with his long-range bombs, and guard Kelly Bowlin, on short jumpers, had 10 points each. Center Jay Wetzel, making good on six of nine attempts, was high-point man for the Mustangs at that time with 12.

Walnut was extremely hot from the floor in the early going of the second stanza, hitting six of their first seven attempts to grab a 32-24 lead. But then Sly scored eight of the Bearcats' final 10 points of the period to close the gap to five at halftime.

The combination of guard Scott Johnson, forward Harold (H.P.) Drake and Sly got the Bearcats to within two points of the lead with about two minutes to play in the third period, 46-44.

Johnson got the club going with a bucket and a three-point play in the opening minute before picking up his fourth foul with a minute to go.

But Walnut slowly pulled away, and Mustang forward Cliff "Archie" Manning gave the visitors an eight-point cushion at the buzzer with a one-handed 20-footer.

"I think Cliff's shot at the end of the third quarter did it," stated Murray.

Bonita, switching from its zone press defense to a man-to-man in the fourth period, couldn't get any closer than six points in the final eight minutes.

The Bearcats, however, ended up with the top two scorers in the game. Sly's 24 markers were followed by Drake's 21. H.P. (Harold Paul), who is recovering from an ankle injury from last Friday's game, connected on only 9 of 31 field goal attempts but pulled down 12 rebounds.

Kings get ready for Canadiens by hosting Caps

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — When the Los Angeles Kings meet Washington at the Forum tonight, it could be just a warmup game for Saturday night's battle for first place with Montreal.

The Kings have an impressive 15-5-7 road record, with two of the defeats and two of the ties coming in New York against the Rangers and the Islanders. Despite what have appeared, at times, like golden opportunities for a Kings victory over New York, the Los Angeles club never seemed to make any headway there.

The club's on-the-road victory record is even more remarkable compared to league home team statistics. Excluding the two expansion teams, Washington and Kansas City, home teams have compiled a 237-93-64 record. Washington and Kansas City are the only two NHL teams with losing records at home.

In their previous seven seasons the Kings won a total of only 51 games.

But Saturday's match would prove the team's worth. Both Los Angeles and Montreal hold a 28-game winning record in the NHL Division 3, with the Kings losing 8 and the Canadiens losing 9. Both have tied 13 and have compiled a total of 69 points.

Montreal has not lost a road game on the west coast since Scotty Bowman became their coach. Their win over Vancouver Tuesday night gave them a 16-0-3 record under Bowman, with two of the ties in Los Angeles.

Little guys seek prizes at drags

Although the professional drivers receive most of the attention and split the bulk of the prize money, there's still a place in drag racing for the little guys. Just ask Jerry McClanahan, who is competing in the Winternationals this weekend at the Los Angeles County Fairgrounds.

McClanahan's investment is minimal when compared to the $70,000 some pros have tied up in equipment. But the 35-year-old Pomonan still must have as much mechanical and driving talent to succeed at his level as a Don Prudhomme or a Don Garlits at the professional level.

And McClanahan obviously has that kind of talent. His back-to-back World Finals victories in Stock Eliminator the last two seasons will attest to his very special motorsports talents.

The World Finals is the most restrictive race in the sport, only the very best cars and drivers at various regional levels of competition even qualify and then only five earn World Championship designations.

The fact that McClanahan recorded World Finals victories in consecutive years and at two different race tracks — Amarillo, Tex., in 1973 and Ontario in 1974 — is a tribute to his skill and ingenuity.

But while the World Championships are gratifying, McClanahan's dream is of a triumph in the National Hot Rod Association Winternationals drag races which run for the 15th time, Jan. 30-Feb. 2.

McClanahan's obsession with the Winternationals is not too difficult to understand since his residence at 1748 Elwood is only a half dozen blocks from the Los Angeles County Fairgrounds race track at which the NHRA season opener has been contested for 14 years.

In fact, when amateur races were conducted at the Pomona track on a regular weekly basis, McClanahan used to drive his race car over from his house, thus saving all the hassle of loading and unloading a trailer.

McClanahan and more than 600 other racers from throughout the United States and Canada began time trials and technical inspection today. Time trials, qualifying and class eliminations will continue through Saturday with final eliminations beginning at 11:30 a.m. Sunday.

Santa Ana trips Mounties

By MIKE RAWLINSON
P-B Staff Writer

Coach Gene Victor likened Santa Ana to the mouse that took the cheese and escaped in Wednesday night's South Coast Conference game at Mt. San Antonio College.

Santa Ana, the South Coast leaders at 5-0 and 21-2 overall, came from behind for a 76-73 decision that put them two games up on MSAC with five games left on the conference schedule.

The Mounties were in command almost from the outset in the first half and had an eight-point lead at the half, 37-29.

But the momentum shifted gradually and Santa Ana trimmed the lead, first to five, 55-50, with 10 minutes gone, and then tied it up at 61-61 with 6:24 to play.

"Santa Ana fell into our trap at first," said Victor after the game. "And then they escaped. They were like the mouse that took the cheese. Our offense betrayed us in the second half. We tried to control the game. You can't run-and-gun with those guys. It worked for awhile."

It was anyone's game for about three minutes following the 61-61 tie. The Mounties regained the lead at 66-63 and then lost it for good as guard Rico Weaver went on a tear.

Weaver scored seven of his game-high 27 points in the final three minutes, stealing the ball twice for easy buckets.

Until then, almost from the outset, it had been MSAC's George Schader and Duaine Harding dominating the contest.

Schader, the 6-6 sophomore forward, banged in 25 points on twisting turn-around jump shots from inside a radius of 15 feet. Harding, the 6-6 freshman center, pounded the boards and pulled down a season-high 17 rebounds. He added 16 points.

With Schader and Harding paving the way in the first half, the Mounties made 17 of 38 from the field.

Both Harding and Schader fell off in the second half and the Mounties had a shooting percentage of 43, compared to Santa Ana's 49 per cent.

With Harding controlling the boards, MSAC's advantage in that department was, 42-30. Schader grabbed nine of that total and sub forward Tom Pokorski pulled down six.

Pokorski, who has been MSAC's fireman all year, came off the bench early in the first half and sparked a 10-point burst that brought the Mounties back from a 6-2 deficit into a 12-6 advantage.

In the spree, Pokorski scored on a field goal, pulled down three rebounds and blocked a shot.

While the Mounties had only Schader and Harding in double figures, The Dons had four. Weaver led with 27, followed by Steve Snodgrass with 15, Gregg Green with 14 and Glenn Clark with 13.

Green went into the contest as the team's leading scorer with an average of over 20 points a game.

In other South Coast games Wednesday night, Cerritos grabbed second place outright with a 75-72 victory over Fullerton and San Diego Mesa avoided the cellar with a 77-75 win over Orange Coast.

The teams take a break from South Coast play until Feb. 12, when MSAC visits Fullerton, Orange Coast hosts Santa Ana and Cerritos visits San Diego Mesa.

Goodrich paces Lakers' rally

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Gail Goodrich scored 34 points and Los Angeles rallied in the second half to beat the New Orleans Jazz, 112-108, Wednesday.

The Lakers trailed 60-48 at the half, but outscored the Jazz in both periods of the second half.

Pete Maravich was Jazz high scorer with 32 points.

New Orleans took its halftime lead after holding the Lakers to only 1[illegible] points in the second period.

That period was also the best for the Jazz as they scored 34 points.

Bowlin was the top point-producer for the Mustangs with 20 points (8 of 15 from the field). Czarnecki finished with 18 points (9 of 23) and 10 rebounds, while Wetzel ended up with 16 points (8 of 13) and six caroms.

MSAC falls to Santa Ana

In the meantime, the Mounties play two non-conference games on the road, next Tuesday at Pasadena City College and a week from Friday at Los Angeles Valley College in Van Nuys. They won't return home until they host San Diego Mesa, Feb. 15.

Victor's club gets one more shot at Santa Ana, hoping between now and then Feb. 26 meeting in Santa Ana, that one of the South Coast teams can do what the Mounties couldn't Wednesday.

Sports news in brief

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The San Francisco Giants announced Wednesday the acquisition on waivers of outfielder Von Joshua from the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Joshua, the 1972 Pacific Coast League batting champion, had been a member of the Dodgers the past two seasons but had little playing time. Last year he batted .234 in 124 at-bats with one homer and 16 runs batted in.

Joshua, who is 26, bats left-handed and is considered a better than average outfielder. He was unable to break in with the Dodgers, who have an abundance of outfielders, and last year asked to be traded.

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Guadalajara's Jesus Ramirez, bidding for his eighth win in a row, meets Jose del Rio of Mexicali tonight in a scheduled 10-round bantamweight bout.

Ramirez, 11-2 with nine knockouts, is fighting for the first time in the United States. Del Rio is 13-5 with six KOs.

Zinky iced the game in overtime with a pair of free throws with 11 seconds left after Chaffey center Mike Minardo fouled him.

Henry Walther led Palomar with 19 points and Tim Ness added 18. Terry Huggans was high for the game for Chaffey with 23 points and Russ Williams added 21.

Grapplers win again for Lugo

Don Lugo High chalked up its eighth match in a row without a loss Wednesday with a 64-6 wrestling victory over Upland. The Conquistadores are 8-2-1 overall for the season.

Jerry Ramirez (105) and Benny Alaniz (122) upped their season records to 16-0 with decisions over Upland opponents. Randy Roberts scored his 15th pin of the season in the 156-pound class. His record is 15-1.

Don Lugo's next match is Friday at Ontario High.

Leos in second place

It was 36-29 at the half. But Whittier battled back behind the shooting of Jeff Benavides. Benavides hit on his first five shots after intermission, missed two, then connected on three more in a row.

The Poets took the lead for the last time with 12:20 left in the game. Two free throws gave them a 45-44 advantage.

But Carter, Russ, Castaneda and Russ again unanswered all hit bombs. Russ missed only one shot the rest of the game and he was shooting sometimes from 25 to 30 feet out.

San Dimas upsets A.L. in overtime

By SCOTT POINDEXTER
P-B Correspondent

Two overtime games in a row might be what turns a coaches' hair grey, but Bob Espinoza, the San Dimas coach, is beginning to like them. His Saints overcame a nine-point deficit to beat the Alta Loma Braves, 64-60, in overtime Wednesday afternoon.

Steve Brahs had an exceptional game, hitting 13 field goals and seven of eight free throws for a game high 33 points. San Dimas now moves over the .500 mark in Hacienda League play with a (4-3) record.

The Braves missed a chance to stay within a game of the high-flying Walnut Mustangs and be all alone in second, but it was not to be.

At times, the game appeared to be in the hands of Alta Loma. Twice jumping out to nine-point leads, the Braves constantly frittered away points. After falling behind at one point, 20-19, Alta Loma rolled off the next eight points.

San Dimas battled back to end the half only three behind, 27-24. The Saints once again fell behind to open the second half, 38-29, and it seemed that the Braves (5-1) were going on to win.

Brahs then came to the rescue by scoring 12 points, grabbing eight rebounds and blocking one shot, all in the third period. Mike Shepherd, ending a first half cold streak when he couldn't buy a bucket, hit his first three shots of the third period. Between the two players, they put San Dimas to within three again.

The fourth quarter was a case of stall and counter-stall. The Saints caught the Braves and finally went ahead 55-54. After a bad pass by Alta Loma, the Saints began a two and a half minute stall.

Another bad pass at the 58-58 point gave Alta Loma the ball with 1:07 left. The Braves turned the ball around for one final shot, but a partial block by Kevin Pokrajac sent the game into overtime.

Andy Armstrong, Brave center and leading scorer (16) hit a shot in the first 40 seconds of the extra quarter, but Brahs turned around and put in two baskets. Rick Burke added a final topping basket to ice the game.

Other Alta Loma players in double figures included Tom Erbstoesser (15), Anthony Vasquez (14), and Roger Gubichuk (11).

Friday night will find the Braves and the Bonita Bearcats fighting it out for second place, while San Dimas will host the Ontario Jaguars at the San Dimas Gym. Both games begin at 8 p.m.

Ontario nips Sierra Vista in H.L. play

After leading by 12 points in the fourth quarter, Ontario High had to hold off a late Sierra Vista surge before emerging with a 55-53 decision in Hacienda League play Wednesday afternoon.

Sierra Vista reserve Gerardo Mora's two free throws after time had run out left Ontario with only the two-point victory, its triumph in seven league outings.

Ontario forward Dan Pearce, the league's seventh-leading scorer, pace the Jaguars with 19 points. Guard Roy Bornholdt, sixth in the league in scoring, added 12 in the victory.

In another Hacienda League contest, Gladstone trimmed Royal Oak, 67-63.

The Romans' Scott Woodland, who is the No. 5 scorer in the league with a 16.7 average, topped all players in the game with 27 points and 16 rebounds.

Chino battles Wolves to 1-1 tie in soccer

Chino High's soccer team didn't completely stop Claremont Wednesday in San Antonio League action, but the Cowboys did deny the Wolfpack a victory.

Ed Marquez scored for Chino with about seven minutes left in the contest to give the Cowboys a 1-0 lead after the two clubs battled to a scoreless tie after one half. But then Claremont's All-CIF Gesner DaCarmo booted in an indirect free kick two minutes later to give the Wolves a 1-1 tie.

Claremont, second-ranked in CIF, still holds the lead in the SAL with six victories, no losses and a tie. Chino is hanging onto fourth place with a 3-1-3 record.

In other SAL competition Wednesday, Garey and Ganesha battled to a 2-2 tie. Webb blanked Montclair, 4-0, and Damien whipped Pomona, 5-1.

David Segura scored both goals for Ganesha, while Garey's Peter Manzo was credited with both of the Vikings' goals.

Paul Richards booted in two of Webb's four goals, while John Richards and Tom Burdick got credit for the remaining two.

After leading 3-1 going into the second half, Damien pulled away from Pomona on goals by Keith Armstrong and Ruben Lopez. It was Armstrong's third goal of the day, add agate

PASSENGER CAR TIRE GUARANTEE
Montgomery Ward guarantees each of its passenger car tires for a specified number of miles when used on passenger cars or station wagons, except taxis. If your tire does not give you this mileage because of:

- normal road hazard failure,
- premature tread wearout (2/32 inches or less remaining).

Montgomery Ward will:
1. During the first 10% of guaranteed mileage, replace the tire free.
2. During the remaining guaranteed mileage, replace it for a prorata charge based on mileage used.

Nail punctures repaired free during the entire guaranteed mileage.
For guarantee service and adjustments, return tire to any Montgomery Ward branch with the Guarantee Booklet issued at the time of sale.
Charge after first 10% of guaranteed mileage based on selling price in effect at the time of return at branch to which returned, including federal excise tax.
Passenger tires used on taxicabs, and motor vehicles other than passenger cars are guaranteed on the same basis against defects in materials and workmanship only.

King's Brass to bow at The Timbers

The King's Brass, a 16-piece swing band, will play at The Timbers in Glendora Friday from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.

The youthful band was played throughout Southern California, and many of the members have performed with other leading Southland bands. The repertoire includes swing, jazz, blues and contemporary numbers.

The King's Brass is conducted by Arnold Stevenson, for many years a professional drummer.

No longer worthless

During the Revolutionary War years, paper money became worthless. But its value is picking up as the United States Bicentennial draws near. At a recent auction in New York, collectors paid $800 for a 20-shilling note printed by New Hampshire in 1775 and $380 for a $2 bill issued by Virginia in 1781.

'An American knight'

Paul Muni a true artist

By IRA BERKOW

CHICAGO — (NEA) — Who was Paul Muni, and how come so few remember him?

By the standards of distinguished directors like Howard Hawks and actresses like Bette Davis, Paul Muni was one of the finest, if not the finest, American actor of this century.

Who was Paul Muni?

He ran the toughest mob in Chicago, discovered how to make milk safe to drink, heroically fought injustice in France, in Dayton, Tennessee, and in Mexico; conquered Europe, wrote great symphonies and was one of the world's greatest wooers.

That is, he played, in order, Al Capone, Louis Pasteur, Emile Zola, Clarence Darrow, Juarez, Napoleon, Franz Schubert and Don Juan. Among many others.

Why, then, is he so little remembered, just seven years after his death, at age 72?

In a recently published biography, "Actor, The Life and Times of Paul Muni" (Putnam), author Jerome Lawrence, co-author of "Inherit the Wind" which starred Muni on Broadway, wrote:

"Was (is) the public's attitude toward Muni a classic example of America's actor sickness? We all crave heroes — presidents with charisma, sexy senators and governors, teachers we can love, preachers we can turn into fathers.

"But mostly we want gods and goddesses on our stages, screens, and TV sets: idealizations of ourselves. If the face isn't a male collar ad or a female blonde Venus, then we want intellectual giants: mammoth IQ's, instant answers, prefabricated philosophies, packaged religion, magic, fairy tales, Santa Claus, Superman.

"We idolize them; then we forge them."

This fine, balanced book may or may not help to resurrect Muni, but at least it will bring him, for a time, from behind the backstage of late late TV movies into a spotlight of sorts.

Muni was the consummate artist, according to Lawrence who sat one night in a Chicago hotel room recently and spoke about his subject.

"I had hoped that this book would not only be a loving tribute to Muni the actor, but I wished it to be a kind of textbook of acting," he said. Indeed, Lawrence dedicated the biography "To young, learning Actors: the Munis of tomorrow."

Lawrence gave an example of the depth of preparation which Muni brought to his performances. He recalled that Josephine Hutchinson, who played Pasteur's wife, had said, that one of the mistakes young actors make today is to think they can go onstage or on camera and do whatever comes into their minds. And it probably isn't as good as if they'd had a line or musical score in their heads beforehand. Muni prepared an entire symphony.

The bills for his research at the Los Angeles County Hospital were quite sizeable.

It was Muni's meticulous physical preparation which gave him his biggest break in the English-language theater, after spending years in the American Yiddish theater, said Lawrence.

When looking for the actor to play Al Capone in "Scarface," Howard Hawks thought of Muni. Hawks remembered seeing Muni in the Yiddish theater in a moving scene with his back to the audience, where he was such a purist he'd even made up his hands to fit the character, said Lawrence.

Hawks had a tough time convincing Muni to take the role. Muni felt that he couldn't play that kind of man because he wasn't that kind of person. Muni had, according to Lawrence, a deep integrity which attracted him to roles of people he could respect.

Hawks, however, appealed to Muni the actor, and said he could bring several dimensions to the Capone characterization. Muni did.

In later years, in 1942 after a Broadway performance of "Counselor-at-Law," Eleanor Roosevelt went backstage and told Muni, "In Great Britain, they give their finest actors knighthoods. In Japan, deserving artists are designated as national treasures. Here we have nothing to give you but our applause, and our affection and gratitude.

"But if I had the power, Mr. Muni, you would be declared an American knight and one of our national treasures."

Muni, however, and the electric Yiddish theater in which he began his acting career, are anything but national treasures any more. The Yiddish theater is a lost art, and Muni a lost artist.

PAUL MUNI, shown as Henry Drummond, a role modeled on the real-life Clarence Darrow in "Inherit the Wind" (1955), was called "an American knight," by Eleanor Roosevelt.

A groundhog is a furry rodent that burrows in the ground. Its stock body may be two feet long.

Groundhogs, also called woodchucks, make their homes in many parts of North America.

All summer the groundhog nibbles grass, roots, and leaves. By October, the groundhog is so fat it can hardly walk. When winter comes, it curls up in its burrow and falls into a deep sleep. The stored fat keeps it alive during its sleep.

Some people have a superstition that the groundhog can tell what the weather will be. On the second day of February, it is supposed to wake from its long sleep and stick its head out of its burrow.

If it sees its shadow, it will be frightened and crawl back into its hole. This is supposed to mean that there will be six more weeks of winter.

But if the sun is not shining it will stay out of its burrow and spring will come soon!

Here's wonderful news! A pocket radio, camera, World Almanac globe or other fine prize will be awarded to the first younster sending in a question used here. Send your question and your age to Johnny Wonder, (c/0 this newspaper), Box 1335 (DA), Santa Cruz, CA 95061.
